LIMESTONE Coast Football Association club is leading a push to reverse an association ruling which prevents women from playing in the men's competition.

The combining of men's and women's soccer under the LCFA banner for season 2021 has triggered the league decision, which Millicent United Soccer Club has opposed due to its reliance on females to fill its men's teams.

Club co-president Ian Lines, pictured alongside co-president Stuart Nuske and member Caroline Dower, will call on his peers to help overturn the ruling at a presidents' meeting on Tuesday.

Logs for jobs

RAQUEL MUSTILLO

A FEDERAL Government committee has released a slew of recommendations addressing timber supply constraints in the plantation sector, with the establishment of an industry-led voluntary code of conduct high on the list of proposed measures.

The committee's 'Aussie logs for Aussie jobs' reports outlines 10 recommendations, including a code of conduct, information on softwood log prices and a review on the regulatory settings relating to plantation growth.

The report found one of the key difficulties facing processors was the "lack of transparency in regard to export market prices" and said a voluntary code of conduct could help facilitate long-term timber supply contracts for the mutual benefit of both.

OneFortyOne Plantations told the committee water access was the "single biggest impediment to the timber supply chain in the Green Triangle", with the report backing a review of regulatory settings relating to plantations.

In a submission to the committee, Kalangadoo-based Plantation Treated Timber managing director Peter Badenoch suggested the adoption of a code of practice and information on pricing and sales to provide transparency.

Rock lobster quota carry over

COMMERCIAL rock lobster fishers will be able to carry-over uncaught quota and have extended fishing seasons in temporary changes to help fishers manage the financial impacts of the double impact of COVID and trade restrictions.

Primary Industries and Regional Development David Basham said changes are being introduced at the request of the state's rock lobster fishers and will help the industry which has experienced a challenging 12 months.

Mr Basham said southern zone rock lobster fishers will be granted additional time to catch quota this year, with the current season being expanded to July 31 and the next season opening on September 15.

He said fishers will also be granted the option to carry over up to 20pc of their quota entitlements from this season to the next if they do not catch all of their quota, which has been recommended by the industry.

"To help navigate the current market turbulence, our fishers have requested extended fishing seasons as well as the opportunity to carry over quota," Mr Basham said.

"The Marshall Liberal Government is pleased to support these requests and provide fishers with the flexibility they need, so long as the sustainability of our premium fish species is protected.

"These changes build on similar flexible arrangements for fisheries introduced last year in response to COVID-19 market disruptions and I thank all fishers who engaged with their local industry representatives to reach these recommendations."

"South Australia's rock lobster industry is incredibly important to our state economy supporting thousands of jobs and the sector has endured a challenging past year through the double impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic and changes to trade with China."

South Eastern Professional Fishermen's Association executive officer Nathan Kimber said the temporary management changes for the Southern Zone was welcome news.

"The rock lobster industry has been impacted by a range of market disturbances and access issues over the past 14 months," Mr Kimber said.

"These temporary management measures will provide fishers with a level of flexibility as they assess the best ways to deal with the current market outlook."

OVER 1200 Limestone Coast residents have received a COVID-19 vaccine since the state's rollout started, with Mount Gambier earmarked for a new community vaccination clinic this month.

The State Government has committed to establishing a community clinic in Mount Gambier as part of SA Health's targeted response to regional communities at risk of not being able to be vaccinated.

Details of the additional clinic remain unknown while the process is finalised, including a start date.

Limestone Coast Local Health Network chief executive Ngaire Buchanan revealed preparations were underway to help deliver vaccines to emergency services personnel, with a visiting service among the measures floated to address large numbers with organisations such as the Country Fire Service and State Emergency Service.

Looking ahead to the peak Easter long weekend holiday period, Ms Buchanan urged residents and visitors to remain on alert regarding COVID-19, including the monitoring of symptoms and accessing testing if required.

"COVID has not gone away, we've only just started our vaccination program here in SA," Ms Buchanan said.

"The main thing is to keep alert where you've been and keep alert to any mild symptoms, get yourself tested and isolate until you get the test back," she said.

Limestone Coast Police will continue to monitor COVID restriction compliance over the long weekend, including QR Code use.

Easter safety choice plea

BRETT KENNEDY

brett.kennedy@tbwtoday.com.au

NOT even stringent safety gear use or more than a decade of experience could save Geelong motorbike enthusiast Billy Bubb from traumatic and life-altering injuries following a riding accident in sand dunes near Beachport.

The 22-year-old's New Year's Eve accident is sadly one of numerous incidents in recent years that have triggered a pre-Easter campaign from Limestone Coast authorities, urging residents and holidaymakers to slow down and consider their choices this long weekend.

According to Limestone Coast Police, the road safety risk for motorists increases up to three-fold on the Thursday prior to Good Friday as drivers hit the road in preparation for the four-day break.

However, off-road activities remain a focus for emergency services this Easter in the hope recreational accidents, such as the one involving Mr Bubb, do not occur.

Mr Bubb spent the first 10 days of 2021 in a coma and suffered a severed spinal chord, broken back and other injuries following the crash in sand dunes north of Beachport Conservation Park on December 31 last year.

He remains in Melbourne's Royal Talbot Rehabilitation Centre where he has relearned how to speak, eat and drink, but remains without use of his legs and right arm.

Despite his significant injuries and tedious rehabilitation, Mr Bubb remains committed to returning to his home and resuming his career as an excavator.

Almost $70,000 has been raised for the Bubb family to help with Billy's recovery

LIFE CHANGED: Geelong man Billy Bubb continues to recover from traumatic injuries sustained in a motorcycle crash in sand dunes near Beachport. Picture: AMY BUBB

- including $21,000 from a March 21 fundraiser in Geelong - with Billy's sister Amy hopeful her brother's experience would highlight the importance of protective equipment for motorcyclists and prevent a similar outcome in the future.

"His whole life Billy was always the one to wear his protective gear," Ms Bubb said.

"If he wasn't wearing his helmet or didn't have his boots on, it (the accident) might have been a lot worse - he might not have been here," she said.

"It doesn't matter if you've been riding for six years or six months, accidents happen."

Ms Bubb's sentiments were echoed by Limestone Coast Police operations manager Inspector Campbell Hill, who said accidents could happen to the most diligent of people.

Insp Hill pointed to the 32 lives lost on South Australian roads so far in 2021, urging the region's residents and visitors alike to take extra time to "make good choices" this Easter.

"Enough is enough," Insp Hill said, adding one life was lost on Limestone Coast roads over the 2020 Easter period.

"We want people to be getting home safely," he said.

"We don't want people to be driving selfishly, we want them to be wearing seatbelts, not drink or drug driving, getting enough sleep beforehand and allowing enough time to get to their destination."

Stating the region had a history of recreational accidents, Insp Hill urged people not to make "stupid or selfish" decisions and warned those who take significant care could still become involved in traumatic experiences.

"It is time to short-circuit that cycle of people just doing things automatically and just stop for a minute and calculate what they're doing," Insp Hill said.

"These can be really acute traumatic incidents but they've got a massive legacy," he said.

"It impacts everybody that has any involvement in it."

Given the focus on recreational activities and a forecast bumper period across national parks and coastal hotspots, Limestone Coast Parks and Wildlife manager Nick McIntyre said additional rangers would be deployed to ensure the public complied with rules.

"We really want to see everybody come and have a good time and go home safely and not have to call on SAPOL, or CFS or the SES or any of the agencies.. to come and deal with an incident because people haven't been safe in our parks," Mr McIntyre said.

The summer holiday season reported a visitation increase of 36pc across all sites, with Mr McIntyre adding most campsites were booked out ahead of this weekend.

Mr McIntyre urged visitors to national parks to take note of signage and conditions and to follow designated tracks.

"Always be aware that someone could be coming from around the corner on a sandhill or coming from another angle on the park," he said.

South Australian Ambulance Service crews regularly face trauma in their duties, with Limestone Coast acting operations manager Daniel Forrest urging residents to maintain their safety while soaking up the region.

State Emergency Service Mount Gambier unit manager Mat Tye said the organisation's highly-trained volunteers often faced traumatic scenes, pleading with people to act safely to limit the need for first responders to be called out.

"A lot of members do take this (trauma) back home with them," Mr Tye said, adding support measures were in place for volunteers.

Limestone Coast Local Health Network chief executive Ngaire Buchanan said the impacts of traumatic incidents "doesn't go away for a long time".

"Take care of yourselves, take care of others, and just be mindful of the responders that are going to come and assist you and be mindful of the long journey it's going to take to get back into society," Ms Buchanan said.

UNITED MESSAGE: Limestone Coast emergency services and leading agencies have united to urge the region's residents and visitors to remain safe this Easter long weekend.

Water biggest hurdle

RAQUEL MUSTILLO

raquel.mustillo@tbwtoday.com.au

ONEFORTYONE Planatations has told a parliamentary committee water access is the single biggest impediment to the timber supply chain in the Green Triangle region.

In a submission to the Federal Agriculture and Water Resources Committee, the company estimated losses of more than 25,000ha in the South Australian portion of the Green Triangle under the state's current water allocation limits.

OneFortyOne executive general manager - Australia Cameron MacDonald said there was a risk the forest industry will be required to absorb water allocation reductions "based on data that is outdated at a time when economic productivity has never been more important".

"Without adjustments to regulatory conditions and the way water use is calculated and managed in South Australia, growth and future investment will be inherently limited," the submission said.

"Without action there will be an overall reduction in the national planation estate by 2050, having profound implications upstream and downstream of the industry and for the broader Australian community."

The inquiry's Aussie Logs for Aussie Jobs report said New Forests also called for the removal of South Australian water licensing arrangements, claiming the restrictions as limiting plantation establishment.

The report said OneFortyOne had also "questioned the currency of the data used as the basis for water allocations and called for government investments in 'future research initiatives including additional groundwater monitoring, subregional models, and additional groundwater dependent monitoring."

Primary Industries and Regions South Australia (PIRSA) told the committee the Forest Industry Advisory Council of South Australia had recommended the State Government considers evidence-based proposals from industry to reform water licensing and increase water allocations in the lower Limestone Coast.

The Environment and Water Department has previously said the lower Limestone Coast water allocation plan is due to be reviewed by the Limestone Coast Landscape Board by November 2023 at the latest and will have regard to all available science.

A departmental spokesperson said industry concerns about the water allocation plan were a key driver of the State Government to temporarily halt and review allocations scheduled under the water allocation plan.

The committee's report acknowledged while reversing the decline in the planation estate had been a goal of both State and Federal government for many years, "to date these policies have had limited success".

"Though the committee welcomes the Australian Government's plan to grow a billion new trees within a decade, it as not resulted in a tangible expansion of the planation estate," the report said.

The nation's peak industry body representing the forestry resources and processing sector welcomed the committee's recommendation to review regulatory settings relating to plantations.

Australian Forest Product Association chief executive Ross Hampton said removing regulatory barriers to tree planting for farmers and landowners was important for the industry to grow.

Labor parliamentarian and state shadow Regional Development Minister Clare Scriven said while the report had a number of positive recommendations to support forestry industries in Australia, it revealed the Federal Government "failed to follow through on its announcements on forestry."

Ms Scriven, who chairs a state-based parliamentary inquiry into the timber industry, said the report noted government's promise to provide concessional loans to encourage investment in forestry plantations had not been delivered.

"It is very disappointing that the Liberal Government made forestry announcements before the last Federal election but hasn't delivered on them," she said.

"Forest industries are hugely important to our regional and national economy, but the government is dragging its heels on key promises."

Season catch quota is all snapped up

THE South East commercial snapper fishery has closed after 100pc of the commercial snapper quota has been caught.

The commercial closure follows the early closure of the South East recreational fishing season on March 10.

Anglers can still participate in snapper fishing over the Easter long weekend, with charter boats still able to operate in the South East.

Primary Industries and Regional Development Minister David Basham said the charter boat have managed its strictly limited fishing effort in a way that will enable families to have the pick of the southern waters for their snapper fishing tour.

"As we all know the COVID-19 has impacted on regional tourism over the past year so I encourage recreational fishers still wanting to hook some snapper over the long weekend to support these local businesses by booking a charter fishing tour," he said.

Minister Basham said limited snapper fishing has been allowed in the South East since the State Government closed the snapper fishery in other areas of the state to allow depleted populations to recover.

"Ideal fishing conditions have resulted in strong catches of this iconic fish in both the recreational and commercial fishing sectors this year," he said.

"Since the current snapper management arrangements were announced in 2019 we always indicated that fishing would cease once each of the sectors reached their allocated catches.

"We've already closed the recreational snapper fishery after recreational fishers achieved their allocation in just five weeks.

"Our fisheries management decisions continue to be based on the best available scientific information and expert advice, in order to protect this iconic species.

"We will continue to monitor stocks and set catch limits accordingly in the South East to ensure we can keep the balance right."

Processor says access key

RAQUEL MUSTILLO

raquel.mustillo@tbwtoday.com.au

A KALANGADOO timber processor could increase the number of full-time employees by 15 people at the site but is unable to source access to fibre, a parliamentary committee has heard.

Plantation Treated Timbers managing director Peter Badenoch told the Agricultural and Water Resources said the company had been unsuccessful in negotiating medium and longer term supply with any major plantation owners, with supply contracts due to expire by 2024.

In a submission to the committee, Mr Badenoch said the company had orders pending that are older than 12 months and had rejected "a considerable amount of orders... over the preceding three years" due to its inability to access log.

Mr Badenoch estimated the site could double production and increase the number of full-time employees from 20 to 35 if the company had long-term access to fibre.

The company said although most plan-ation owners have expressed a desire to sell logs on a basis of export parity, there was a "lack of transparency as to what this actually means."

"A number of processors are frustrated in their inability to negotiate in a meaningful way with several planation owners in the Green Triangle," Mr Badenoch said.

"Three-year terms are not enough to justify capital expenditure... Plantation Treated Timber seeks a medium - seven to 10 year - or longer term contracted supply.

"If Plantation Treated Timber could secure additional supply of log on longer term contracts, the company could be in a position to invest a further $3m in capital expenditure."

Mr Badenoch suggested the adoption of a code of practice and information on supply, pricing and sales to provide transparency to export operations to enable a comparison to domestic supply options. "Measures to expand the plantation reserve won't solve my problem if export prices spike and the forestry managers decide to just put it all on boats again," he said.

"It doesn't matter how big the estate is if the market operates as it does now."

Timber code recommended

RAQUEL MUSTILLO

raquel.mustillo@tbwtoday.com.au

A FEDERAL Parliamentary Committee has recommended the establishment of a voluntary code of conduct as well as an index of relevant log prices to facilitate access to timber by softwood processors.

The Australian Parliament's Agriculture and Water Resources Committee has handed down its final report into timber supply chain constraints in the nation's plantation sector, including the need to facilitate long-term supply contracts between producers and processors for the mutual benefit of both sectors.

The development of an index of relevant timber prices to aid negotiations between growers and processors was among 10 recommendations to enable growth and innovation in the sector.

Committee chair Rick Wilson said the issues surrounding a perceived lack of transparency in respect to softwood pricing was illustrative of the challenges experienced by the industry.

"Processors have stressed that they are willing to pay a fair price, if only they could determine one," he said.

"They made clear they do not want to be subsidised by local producers. "However, one key difficulty facing processors is their apparent inability to accurately ascertain export prices for the timber they are seeking to purchase."

Mr Wilson said inquiry participants had suggested the development of a voluntary code of conduct would support the growth of an efficient domestic processing sector while reducing the risks to plantation owners dependent on export markets.

However, HVP Plantations drew attention to the requirements to support local growers in certification standards and said any code of conduct beyond the existing certification schemes was "not justified".

The company said government support for processors should "focus on mechanisms to improve the efficiency of processors, rather than imposing market distortions on growers".

OneFortyOne agreed, saying industry codes are "designed to address market failure rather than the interests of specific supplies" and cited the Australian Treasury's code of conduct policy framework which states codes of conduct "are not designed to protect smaller participants from competitive pressures that relate to bargaining power, access to markets or limited scale when purchasing".

Australian Forest Products Association - which is the peak national industry body representing growers and processors - said it was happy to work with the committee's recommendation that industry take the lead in developing a voluntary code of conduct.

The South Australian Timber Processors Association - which developed a draft forestry code of practice last year - has welcomed the committee's recommendation, saying it will help boost domestic manufacturing and regional prosperity.

"The reason we formed and wrote a draft framework of a code of practice was to try and prevent the massive volume of logs being exported from this region," South Australian Timber Processors Association chief executive David Quill said.

"Since our establishment in August 2017, we have tried to stem the tide of exports given we could see there was a potential for our region to grow through domestic manufacturing.

"Initially, we lobbied the State Government - both the Labor and Liberal parties - in an effort to try and put some controls into the number of exports at the expense of the expansion of domestic processing.

"We ran a concurrent campaign with the Federal Government and had great support from Member for Barker Tony Pasin.

"The bipartisan committee has unanimously agreed to the recommendations and findings and we are thrilled the association - which is a small group of local processors - has been able to influence the Federal Government.

"We also applaud the support of the Australian Forest Product Association which has accepted the principles of the report."

Member for Barker Tony Pasin said if the committee's recommendations are supported, the voluntary code of conduct will be developed between the government department and industry over a 12 month period.

"The codes are always on the first instance voluntary and if need be, as we have done with other codes of conduct, they become compulsory," he said.

"There are a lot of other agricultural industries such as the wine and dairy sectors which have codes of conduct... the fact there is a recommendation for a code of conduct is unsurprising, but it is the first time it has been formalised.

"None of the sawmills want a free kick, they just want a fair go.

"The inquiry is part of the election commitment I secured, we have done the report and I expect the industry to be very happy with it as I have worked very hard with the industry to secure the recommendations they wanted. "Now it is a matter of putting pressure on the minister to make sure the government adopts these recommendations."

Assistant Minister for Forestry Johnathon Duniam said the Federal Government will consider the report and work in lockstep with the forestry industry in responding to the recommendations.

"There is no bigger supporter of the forestry industry than this Government," he said.

"Establishing this inquiry was an election commitment, and I welcome the release of the committee's report."

An AFPA spokesperson said while the association could not speak for individual companies, the AFPA Board, which includes directors drawn from both the growing and processing sectors, had considered the committee's recommendation and supported the development of a voluntary code of conduct, as long as the work is led by AFPA and properly resourced by the Federal Government.

"It is unclear how the proposed log price index differs from the Australian Pine Log Price Index that already exists, and which is updated every six months," they said.

"The Australian Pine Log Price Index is independently collated by KPMG using log price information from all major softwood growers, much like the index recommended by the committee.

"AFPA will seek further clarification on this."

School holiday fun arrives

THE much-anticipated $350,000 upgrade to Beachport's Susan Memorial Playground is nearing completion and will open to the public for the Easter long weekend.

Wattle Range Council chief executive Ben Gower said although works were continuing at the foreshore playground, construction would stop over the Easter period to allow children to use the equipment.

Mr Gower said the front fence was yet to be installed, but expected works to be completed by the Beachport and Rivoli Bay Lions Club in the immediate future.

"Everything is on track for a soft launch for next Thursday, but we will do an official launch to thank Member for Barker Tony Pasin for the Federal Government grant funding and the Lions Club for doing the barbecue areas and front fence," he said.

"Our goal was to make sure the playground was open before Easter and we are nearly there, so we will open over the Easter period and then close it again to do those final works."

Community members were invite to vote for a preferred playground from five shortlisted designs, with an overwhelming response for a wooden ship in a nod to the town's rich maritime history.

The project was funded by a $200,000 grant through the Local Road and Community Infrastructure Program as well as a council contribution.

Young visitors to council's coastal towns during the upcoming school holiday period will be entertained with the launch of the Rivoli Bay Jetties Junior Fishing Competition.

The inaugural event will run from noon on April 13 until 3pm on April 17 and includes three age categories, including five years and under, six to 12 years and 13 to 17 years. Registrations for the competition open on April 12 at the Beachport Recreation Centre and a briefing and workshop, including advice on how to cast, baiting, handling tackle, water safety and FishWatch from 10am to 2pm.

Participants will receive a laminated angler card and will be required to take a clear photo of the fish against a brag mat.

Winners will be announced on April 17 at a presentation to be held at the Beachport Hotel at 4pm.

School holiday events will also be held at other areas across the council region, including craft activities, virtual reality sessions and giant games.

The Millicent Library will host a build your own wooden plane session from 10am on April 13. Children will have an opportunity to design a flower pot at the Millicent Library and Penola School Community Library on April 13 from 2pm to 3.30pm.

The Millicent Gymnastics Club will host a two-hour come and try event on April 14 at 10am and 1pm.

Millicent community connects

RAQUEL MUSTILLO
raquel.mustillo@tbwtoday.com.au

NEW Millicent residents will be connected to educational, sporting, health and businesses resources at next week's Millicent and Surrounds Health Support Group (MASH) community expo.

The inaugural event aims to provide newly arrived community members an opportunity to connect with services and support the retention of residents.

Emergency service personnel, businesses, community groups and service clubs will be among the dozens of exhibitors at the Friday night event.

Millicent and Surrounds Health Support Group chair Trevor Sinclair said the community group had long supported the development of an expo to help support individuals during the transition.

"The health support group has had many conversations with health services, including the medical clinic, the hospital and the ambulance about how to welcome new members coming into the town," he said.

"Our group has had morning teas with new residents, but have always seen it was bigger than our group and we have always thought about an expo to connect other services from around the town.

"The aim is around supporting recruitment and retention and making people welcome to the town so when they go shopping, they can recognise some people and go for a coffee."

Millicent and Surrounds Health Support Group member and event coordinator Simone berry said the broader community and business support for the initiative had been overwhelming positive, with a 41 exhibitors currently confirmed.

"The Country Fire Service will be there with a couple of trucks so kids can have a look inside as well as specialist groups like the book club, arts and craft group, Field Naturalists, Rotary and Lions, Leos and Liness Clubs," she said.

"Fiona Telfer from South East Property Sales and Management and Wattle Range mayor Des Noll will be the guest speakers and they will talk about growth trends and community projects.

"Community retention is vital when it comes to small towns and it is really important to provide a space for new residents to feel welcomed, as well as supporting local businesses and groups.

"A lot of groups have declining membership, so we hope the expo can link people with groups and services they are interested as well."

The free expo will be held at the Millicent Civic and Arts Centre on April 9 from 6pm to 8pm.

Free drinks and a sausage sizzle will be provided for attendees and door prizes will be given away every 15 minutes.

RSVP is essential and can be made by phoning 0488 418 275 or via email on mashsginc@gmail.com.

Rotary coup

MOUNT Gambier Rotarian Ian McKay has been appointed the 9780 District Governor for 2023/24, securing a major conference for the Blue Lake city in his presiding year.

The Rotary Club of Mount Gambier Lakes member and Group 1 assistant governor will take charge of the 9780 district, which spans from Geelong to Millicent and as far north as Swan Hill, encompassing 56 clubs and around 1600 Rotarians.

A key component of the leadership position is the right to host the annual district conference, which brings hundreds of Rotarians together to network and celebrate their achievements.

A Rotarian for just under 10 years and former president of the Rotary Club of Warrnambool Daybreak (2016/17), Mr McKay was proud to be elected to the coveted position and looked forward to the 2023/24 period.

"Personally, it is an opportunity to contribute to Rotary on a bigger stage," Mr McKay said.

"It will give me experience in Rotary to see more of the good things being done outside of just the club or local level," he said.

Mr McKay will now form a conference committee in preparation for the looming major event, foreshadowed to take place in 2024.

"That will bring Rotarians from throughout the district to Mount Gambier so they can both experience what we all know is great about this part of the world," Mr McKay said.

"It is also an economic boost as well with the number of people that will come to the region," he said.

"For the local Rotary clubs and Rotarians, it is an opportunity to have exposure to some of the projects others clubs in the district are doing, which we would often have to travel away to see."

Flying 'Roo touches down in region

QANTAS state manager South Australia Anthony Penney says passengers will be able to book flights from Mount Gambier to Mackay, Manila or Mumbai and return with the launch of the national carrier in the Limestone Coast.

Hordes of residents turned out at the Mount Gambier Regional Airport on Sunday morning to welcome the Flying Kangaroo into the region.

Country Fire Service crews conducted a ceremonial water arch to mark the start of new flights into Mount Gambier before passengers were greeted by elected officials, business leaders and Qantas executives.

At an event celebrating the first arrival, Mr Penney said the airline was proud to help drive domestic visitation to South Australia's second largest city and enable greater connectivity to Australian and international destinations.

"Before COVID, more than 11 million Australian passengers were travelling overseas, so by enabling our flights out of Melbourne and Adelaide to Mount Gambier we hope to drive more traffic into the Limestone Coast," he said.

"We have been working quite closely with the South Australian Tourism Commission and everyone around the Limestone Coast to highlight everything that is on offer so we can drive more visitation and help grow and diversify the economy.

"You can book a flight from Mount Gambier to Melbourne or to Manila or Mumbai and return.

"We have had lead in fares as low as $99 so I am sure people from the community will more than welcome increased competition, increased choice and hopefully more competitive fares moving forward."

Qantas operates five weekly return flights from Mount Gambier to both Adelaide and Melbourne.

The flights will be operated by the airline's 50-seat Q300 turboprop aircraft, which features upgraded cabin interiors, and will offer 500 seats on each route per week.

South Australian Tourism Commission chief executive Rodney Harrex said the extra flights will significantly build confidence in the region's tourism and business sectors.

"Victoria is our largest interstate domestic overnight market, so these additional flights are going to be a great boost for local businesses in the South East and further drive visitation to the Limestone Coast from Adelaide and Melbourne," he said.

"Having additional services means that we can continue to grow visitation, rebuild the visitor economy and create more jobs.

"I congratulate Qantas on further committing to the South Australian market, helping our visitor economy recover and supporting the work of the South Australian Tourism Commission."

Member for Barker Tony Pasin praised the new $9.2m Mount Gambier Regional Airport - partly funded by a Federal Government grant - and the company for flying the Melbourne-Mount Gambier-Adelaide leg.

"Standing out there watching QF2215 land and taxi into the Mount Gambier airport, I almost caught a tear in my eye," he said.

"I remembered a meeting with [Qantas chief executive] Alan Joyce in 2013 where it was suggested that my wish to bring Qantas flights to Mount Gambier was an unrealistic goal.

"To be here today and see that aircraft land and Qantas as the great Australians' commitment to our region, I have to tell you it is right up there in all of the achievements I have been able to partner with communities to achieve."

CELEBRATION: Qantas state manger South Australia Anthony Penney addresses a small crowd after the national carrier's first flight from Melbourne to Mount Gambier.

$10,000 fine for lobster fisherman

A PORT MacDonnell commercial rock lobster fisher has been convicted and fined nearly $10,000 after the removal of eggs from two female rock lobster.

Ian Taylor, 62, was found guilty of being in charge of a commercial vessel where two female rock lobster had their external eggs intentionally remove from under their tails. The man was convicted in the Adelaide Magistrates Court after he entered a guilty plea in December and was subsequently sentenced in March.

The fisherman was prosecuted after Fisheries Officers determined rock lobster had the eggs removed from under their tails before being landed as part of a commercial catch in October 2019.

Female rock lobster with external eggs are a protected species and it is an offence to interfere with them.

In addition to being ordered to pay fines, levies and prosecution costs totalling $9770, the Southern Zone Rock Lobster licence and offender will be penalised with 80 demerit points.

Commercial fishers are subject to a demerit point system, where the accrual of more than 200 points within five years will result in the cancellation of a fishing licence. Individuals can be disqualified from holding or obtaining a fishing authority and fishing as a master of any licence in South Australia for a period of 10 years.

Primary Industries and Regional Development Minister David Basham said the although events of commercial fishers breaking the rules was rare, it should never occur.

"The commercial fishing fleet are our stewards of the ocean and provide premium local product to our restaurants and fishmongers," he said.

"The commercial fishers I have met are passionate about harvesting in a sustainable way. I know other fishers will be very disappointed this occurred."

Individuals can report illegal fishing activity through the 24-hour Fishwatch number on 1800 065 522.

Callers can speak to a Fisheries Officer and may choose to remain anonymous.

Easter a time for reflection

AT Easter, Christians commemorate the death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

In a broader sense Easter is about renewal and rebirth.

As we spend time with family and friends, it is important to reflect on who we are and who we aim to be. On how we can improve ourselves and thus help enrich the lives of those around us.

As a community we have faced great challenges and achieved great things.

Easter is also a time to gather with family and friends and take a well-earned break making this weekend one of the busiest of the year on our roads.

I urge everyone to stay safe while travelling this long weekend.

To every Barker driver, every motorcyclist, every pedestrian and every cyclist, let's all take extra care and show respect for each other on our roads.

Happy Easter.

Street trees should stay

I AM disappointed to read about the request to remove the 12 Lagunaria trees in Mitchell Street Mount Gambier (The Border Watch, March 19).

Over the last several months I have watched the construction of the mentioned dwelling evolve very close to the Mitchell Street fence line and so close to the canopy of the street trees.

It was easily apparent early in construction that the tree would impact on the gutters and the roof of the two storey dwelling.

As it is the first dwelling on the site, with four more empty blocks backing onto Mitchell Street yet to be developed, I imagine all four future homeowners would be pleased for the tree removal - especially if the houses are to be built in a similar style, two-storey and close to the fence and therefore the trees.

I congratulate the common sense approach from the council regarding this issue, which would indeed set a community precedent if the trees were removed

The issue of home maintenance can not be a reason for tree removal if dwellings are built so close to healthy mature trees on council land.

Search for lost bag

I BEG your indulgence to ask for assistance from your readers.

On Friday, March 19, I rode into Mount Gambier on the final leg of a two-week holiday.

During my time on the road in South Australia, I spent a considerable amount of time researching my family history.

On my last afternoon in the area I thought I would visit some of the localities my relatives had been associated with in years past.

I rode to Millicent and from there via the "interesting" Mile Hill Road onto Glencoe for lunch.

Afterwards, I travelled to Kalangadoo via Kangaroo Flat Road and back to Mount Gambier via Nangwarry Road and the Riddoch Highway.

I was dismayed to discover when I returned, that both of the panniers has fallen off my bike somewhere between Glencoe and Mount Gambier.

I immediately reported my loss to Mount Gambier Police.

Thank you Leanne for your empathy and understanding.

I would also like to thank the lovely ladies at Glencoe and Kalangadoo post offices, who agreed to keep their eyes and ears open.

My biggest thanks and gratitude go to David Wiltshire, a local gent who had picked up one of the bags.

SEARCH CONTINUES: A pannier, like that lost by Rob Humphries during his recent trip to the Limestone Coast.

It was the one I really didn't want to lose as it contained my camera, iPad and all my research notes, among other things.

He found my phone number in the bag and called me.

The bag and I were swiftly reunited.

David, thank you again for your honesty and kindness.

It now remains to see if another kind soul can reunite me with the other lost bag.

I was fortunate during my travels to encounter many good people, view some brilliant sights and have many memorable experiences.

I hope that your good readers can provide one more piece of good fortune.

Should anyone have found the bag, please take it to Mount Gambier Police Station.

Any assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Support for MP's stance

MOIRA NEAGLE

now here's a thought

I noted on the front page of this paper last week that the Member for Mackillop, Nick McBride's, support for overhauling this state's abortion laws has caused disquiet in a select group of his electorate.

Well, I'm writing this week's column to support his stance. With all that has been reported in the news over the past six weeks on the status of women in this country, I think the very least we can do is allow them to control their own bodies, for goodness sake.

It amazes me that you can gather 70 people to oppose Nick's action on this issue, but to get that many to actively criticise the lack of a clear energy policy for this country, which will impact on our climate and environment, would be a real challenge. Or to get voters to protest their outrage at a family with two young daughters being kept on Christmas Island in a stateless Neverland demonstrates a fairly narrow view to what are the most significant issues right before our eyes now. The article quoted a member of the Christian Lobby South Australia who slammed Nick for "knowingly voting against the wishes of his electorate."

Nick may have voted against 70 of his electorate but I believe he voted for the wishes of the majority of his electorate.

It was a courageous and definitive move on his part and I applaud him for doing it.

Many of my readers will be surprised to read my next statement; Nick McBride is doing a lot for his electorate and to imply otherwise means that readers are not across the many issues Nick has taken a stand on for his electorate.

Reasons for women having to have an abortion are many and complex.

A "NO" to the option would be simplistic.

CADET TRAINING: St John cadets welcome the launch of the Mount Gambier Division Centre.

St John finds new city home

RAQUEL MUSTILLO
raquel.mustillo@tbwtoday.com.au

THE region's St John Ambulance volunteers will be better equipped to provide onsite training and patient transport during major events and emergencies with the launch of the new St John Mount Gambier Division Centre.

After three years of searching for a premises and working with local tradespeople and builders to refurbish the 3 Anthony Street site, the dual-purpose facility is now fully operational.

St John SA Limestone Coast division officer administering command Joseph O'Connor welcomed the new facility, saying it had been a challenge to undertake training and response tasks without a permanent site.

"It is exciting to have the fleet out the back and have the training centre under the same roof," he said.

"Previously, we were running out of a shed and our other equipment was stored elsewhere.

"Now it is really smooth as we can go to the one centre, grab whatever we need and then go.

"The commercial team can come into an office and conduct administrative duties, training and sales both on and off the site and stock supplies here instead of their house."

Mr O'Connor said the new facility allowed the volunteer organisation to continue to provide first aid training and products, first aid at events, youth development and social inclusion programs across the region.

"The Limestone Coast division provides many event health service coverage in the lower South East, including the Mount Gambier show, the Christmas pageant, Generations In Jazz and we also assist with state events such as the Royal Adelaide Show and Schoolies," he said.

"Our team also has a bushfire response group which recently attended the Lucindale Blackford fire and assisted the CFS and other emergency services and the community in the relief centres at the staging grounds.

"The cadets are pretty much the backbone of St Johns because they are the future leaders... and the facility will be their new home.

"Cadets can come here for a few hours after school, hang out with everyone they know and learn something they have an interest in.

"Over the last three years we have built so many memories at the last facility, but now it's time to start making memories here."

At the official launch held last week, St

John Ambulance SA chief executive Mark Groote said the organisation was delighted to have a physical presence in the region.

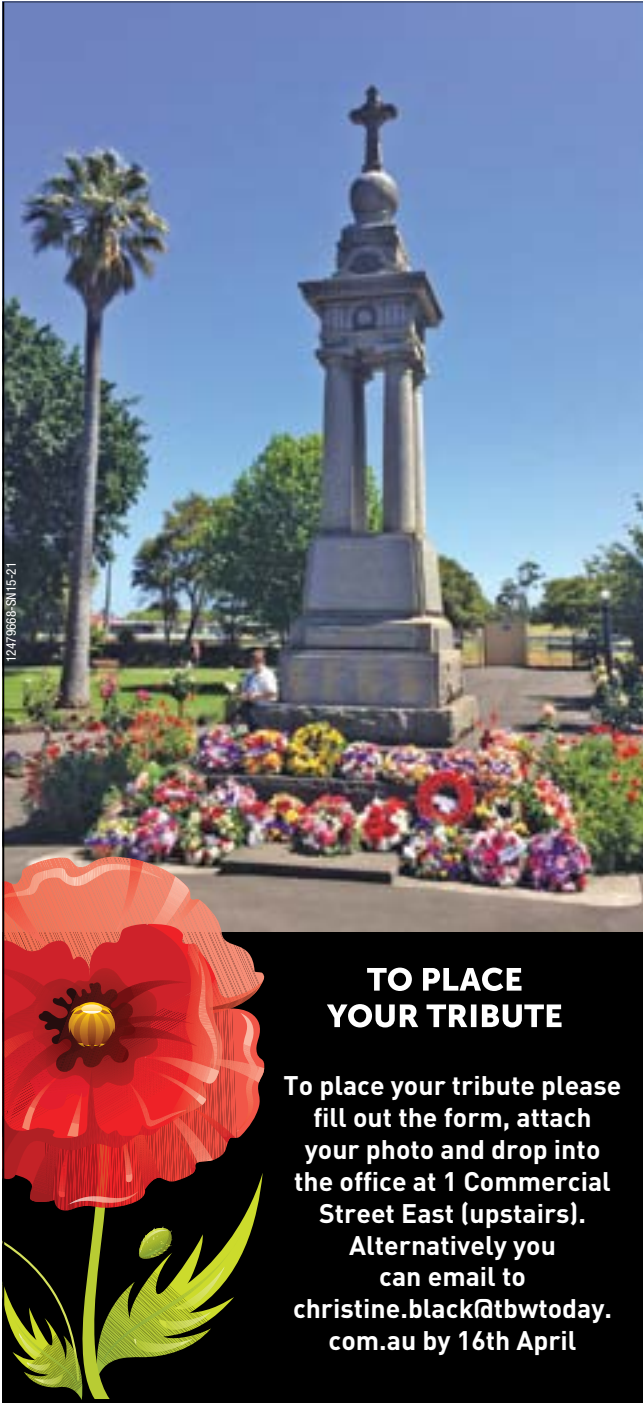

"This is the first opening of a regional centre we have had in many, many years," he said.

"I have been told it has taken us about three years to find the right place and it has been a long journey for the team to make sure we get a space that is good, is in the right location and with the density we need.

"Everyone should be really proud of what we have here as a building.

"It is a place volunteers can finally call their own and also somewhere for our first aid students to come and do training."

Mr Groote hoped the new centre would encourage individuals to volunteer with St John and further support the dedicated group of adult volunteers and cadets.

Shire pumps project

CASTERTON'S pump track will start to take shape this month.

The Glenelg Shire Council-led project will provide skaters, scooter and BMX riders a new recreational outlet at the Island Park precinct.

Construction will start mid-April on the facility, which will be situated adjacent the Casterton Caravan Park alongside a new half-court basketball court.

"The track will cater for all ages and skill levels - from three year olds on balance bikes, to youth and even adults - ensuring all sections of the community can enjoy the benefits of this new offering," Glenelg Shire Mayor Anita Rank said.

"Complimenting the existing aquatic and recreation facilities, we hope that this new track will further help to position the Island Park as a premier active precinct in the Glenelg Shire and the south west region," Cr Rank said.

A modular pump track has also been installed at Heywood Skate Park with connecting pathways under construction.

It is anticipated the track will open next month.

A pump track for Portland Foreshore is currently in the design phase.

BRETT KENNEDY
brett.kennedy@tbwtoday.com.au

MOUNT Gambier art teacher Yunita Manfrin will forever be seen as a bride on her wedding day to husband Paul, a running joke that's not far from reality for the couple.

Impacted by a severe vision impairment - limiting his vision to just 5pc - it has also been around seven years since Paul clearly saw his twin children Cameron and Isabella, now 14.

While able to see defined shapes and some detail on a perfectly-lit day, Paul has entrusted the Manfrin family's newest member - five-year-old assistance dog Bree - to guide him throughout his day.

The close bond formed between Bree and the Manfrin family since 2018 has served as inspiration for Yunita's debut art exhibition, 19 pieces aimed at showcasing her talent while raising awareness for the role assistance dogs play for the visually impaired.

On display at Mount Gambier's Main Corner throughout April - coinciding with International Guide Dog Day - Ms Manfrin has produced fine art through to digital works to showcase Bree's vibrant personality in The Art Of Assistance.

Close family and friends were among the first to view the exhibition last Saturday ahead of its Sunday opening, an occasion a long time in the making for Ms Manfrin after her exhibition was postponed in April 2020 due to COVID-19.

With the majority of pieces based on lived experiences or photos taken on Ms Manfrin's mobile phone, the digital art teacher said she now had the confidence to showcase her art.

"It has taken many years of getting over people telling me other things to get to this point," Ms Manfrin said.

"That's why as an art teacher, all I'm doing is building up the kids," she said.

That growth in confidence aligns with the similar experience of welcoming Bree into the family in what has been a life-changing move for the Manfrins.

"It is a very big learning curve," Ms Manfrin said, adding there had been some "interesting moments" when Bree did not follow her training.

"You have to accept that you are putting your trust into, really, a four year old to walk you around," Ms Manfrin said.

It has not stopped Paul from taking on challenges, including tackling the Mount Gambier Parkrun course around the Blue Lake with Bree leading the way.

The Art Of Assistance will be displayed at the Main Corner until April 30.

Ms Manfrin has decorated a donation container sculpted in the shape of a dog and puppy, with all contributions supporting the Royal Society for the Blind.

Dedication to the cause

POURING over 80 years of combined service and raising well in excess of $70,000, Joy Axelby and Kathy Golder have made significant contributions to the Royal Society for the Blind (RSB).

Both Limestone Coast women were recently recognised for 42 years of volunteer service as key members of the Mount Gambier and Districts Club for the Visually Impaired.

The club has been instrumental in raising tens of thousands of dollars for the society through the sale of handmade arts and crafts, as well as RSB badge days and merchandise sales.

At its peak the club had an estimated 60-plus members but numbers have declined over the years, with a committed group of six women still fundraising to support visually-impaired residents across the region.

Members recently used $1000 raised over the festive season to purchase glasses to help a young boy with a significant impairment, as well as a talking watch, which was gifted to a woman.

Ms Axelby and Ms Golder reflected on their four decades of service last month when awarded a certificate of appreciation from the RSB.

Ms Golder recalled how to group was originally formed in support of a visually-impaired resident, with membership surging in the first 12 months.

"The elderly ladies would come together and used to knit squares," Ms Golder said.

Ms Axelby's original invitation to the group was to assist the men's card games, developing an interest in the craft aspect and eventually taking over the key fundraising effort.

In addition to raising money and awareness, the group also support visually-impaired residents through a number of initiatives to improve their quality of life.

Among the measures was the Talking Newspaper initiative, supported by Grant High School students, who would record themselves reading The Border Watch on tape in the pre-digital era, which was passed on to residents.

Ms Golder said a lot of support focused on youth in the current day, with the club purchasing several iPads and other digital devices - considered 'gamechangers' for education, recreation and communication.

"To see the look on the children when they come to get it (a device), even the older ones, there is just such excitement," Ms Axelby added.

RSB executive director Damian Papps praised both women for their outstanding contribution - as well as that of their peers - in supporting the Limestone Coast's blind and vision impaired community over many years.

"Selfless service such as theirs is both humbling and inspiring, and on behalf of the entire team at RSB we extend our sincere thanks to both Joy and Kathy for their work over four decades which has assisted us in serving the blind and vision impaired community," Mr Papps said.

The Mount Gambier and Districts Club for the Visually Impaired meets Wednesdays at 9am at the former cycling club hall behind the Vansittart Park grandstand.

Members will also hold two fundraising stalls at Mount Gambier Marketplace on April 30 and May 7.

Finding Nemo: New species

BRETT KENNEDY
brett.kennedy@tbwtoday.com.au

A NEW jumping spider species has been discovered living in Limestone Coast swamps with its vibrant orange head and white-striped body earning it the name Nemo.

Research released today by Museums Victoria's Joseph Schubert identifies the peacock spider scientifically as Maratus nemo, the 92nd species within the genus.

It was first documented by Nature Glenelg Trust ecological field officer Sheryl Holliday while searching for orchids in a swamp near Nangwarry in November 2018, photographing the spider as it jumped through vegetation.

"I was out there looking for sun orchids and these little things caught my eye," Ms Holliday said.

"I knew all about peacock spiders because I had spent around three years looking for them but when I saw this spider I didn't know it was a peacock - I knew it was a jumping spider of some sort," she said.

After posting the images to social media, Mr Schubert contacted Ms Holliday believing she had made a world-first discovery given the male spider's vibrant colour appeared on its head, not the abdomen like a majority of peacock spiders.

The species' seasonal nature meant it wasn't until November last year that Ms Holliday was able to collect live specimens of the spider - each the size of a grain of rice - and send them to Victoria for further identification.

Immature male peacock spiders do not get their colouration until their final moult - a key element in distinguishing the species from other spiders - while the females are larger but remain brown in colour.

In a twist of irony given its name, one spider was collected on a fishing net while Ms Holliday was catching native fish at the Nature Glenelg Trust-managed Mount Burr Swamp.

"It is amazing to think this is the only place in the world this species has been found," Ms Holliday said.

"Jumping spiders are everywhere - it is just a matter of tuning your eye for that tiny bit of movement."

The Maratus nemo does not weave a web, stalking its prey using its superior vision, but it does create string-like strands when it jumps as a 'safety rope' and weaves small cocoon-like nests.

It is the 13th new species of spiders in the Maratus genus and 18th jumping spider Mr Schubert has identified, becoming a world-leading researcher at just 23 years of age.

Mr Schubert praised Ms Holliday for her work, highlighting the importance of citizen scientists in making new discoveries.

"Roughly only 30pc of Australia's biodiversity has been formally documented scientifically, so this means we could be losing species before we even knew that they existed," Mr Schubert said.

The colourful Maratus spider genus has grown in popularity in recent years thanks the peacock spiders' small size and intricate mating ritual, a 'dance' which has been enhanced with music and photoshopped elements.

"I think peacock spiders have captured the public's attention because they're really, really cute - they've got these massive forward-facing eyes and you can kind of relate to them more than you could like a huntsman," Mr Schubert said.

NEW DISCOVERY: Museums Victoria researcher Joseph Schubert named the specimen the Nemo spider for its bright orange head and white striping.

Overwhelmed by the interest in the new species, it is not the first time Ms Holliday has made a world-first discovery in the last decade working as an ecological field officer, a world away from her 20-year career with Australia Post.

With a long-held passion for finding and photographing orchids, Ms Holliday - a Mil Lel resident - discovered a tiny spotted blue flowered orchid now named helymitra abrupta, the Abrupt Sun Orchid.

The species had been reported on the Fleuriu Peninsula in the 1980s but had since disappeared, reemerging at the Marshes Native Forest Reserve north-west of Glencoe.

Humbled to have made the important ecological discoveries, Ms Holliday said the unique finds highlighted the importance of conservation.

"It is a reminder for people on the land that if they have a wetland, fence it off from livestock because you never know what could disappear before you even know about it," Ms Holliday said.

Halls get new lease on life

TWO halls at the heart of their communities have been given a new lease on life through federally-funded infrastructure upgrades.

Improvements to the Coonawarra Community Hall and Mil Lel Memorial Hall were unveiled late last month, modernising the facilities which serve as key community hubs for residents.

Coonawarra Soldiers Memorial Community Club invested heavily in its Project 100 hall upgrade, coinciding with the hall's centenary.

The club injected $84,045 into the build, supporting by $77,545 from the Federal Government's Building Better Regions Fund, $2500 from Stand Like Stone Foundation and $2000 each from Wattle Range Council and Bendigo Bank.

A new indoor/outdoor bar and dining space was created as part of the upgrade, which also included improved main hall flooring, paint works, a ceiling replacement and new toilet facility.

Coonawarra Soldiers Memorial Community Club committee member John Innes said the government grant was the most significant external funding the hall had received in its 100-year history, enabling the project to be completed to mark its centenary.

"In maintaining the heritage of the building, as well as enhancing its various spaces, the new and improved building will continue to serve future generations with increased capacity and vigour," Mr Innes said.

"The Coonawarra Hall is used very regularly for community events, wine industry gatherings film nights, choir practice and the all-important annual tomato competition," he said.

"We still have many more projects ahead of us and I think Project 100 has been a major boost, giving us great confidence for the future of the Coonawarra Hall."

Wattle Range Council Mayor Des Noll said the hall had been a major part of the local lifestyle, inviting the community to come together and connect with each other.

Member for Barker Tony Pasin opened the refurbished facilities last Friday, stating the development would strengthen the Coonawarra community.

"With the increased capacity that this redevelopment has facilitated, I can see the hall will be used for more local events, especially as we emerge from the COVID-19 pandemic and as restrictions ease," Mr Pasin said.

Speaking to the significant $152,000 Mil Lel Memorial Hall upgrade, Mr Pasin said there was a strong sense of community in Mil Lel and the hall had been at its heart for over 60 years.

The project - split between federal ($77,000) and club ($75,720) funding - included construction of a new ablution block to include new showers and toilets with disabled access.

"I know that there has been a committed fundraising effort to upgrade the amenities and I'm really pleased that the Federal Government was able to support this project," Mr Pasin said.

Mil Lel Memorial Park secretary Janet Phillips said after eight long years of fundraising, planning and the contribution of a Building Better Regions Fund grant, the project had a pleasing result.

"Mil Lel Memorial Park committee would like to thank Naralilla Homes for the great work they did and all those who contributed their time, donations and support to enable this project go ahead," Ms Phillips said. "The wider community will reap the benefits of the facilities for many more years to come."

$15,000 regional student funds

TEN scholarships valued at $15,000 have been launched to support students studying at TAFE SA's Mount Gambier campus.

The Destination Australia domestic scholarships will support students studying Certificate IV in Training and Assessment as part of a campaign encouraging people to enhance their skills and experience life in a regional city.

Mount Gambier residents are also eligible to apply for the 12-month scholarships, which are open to students starting a new course in the second semester of 2021. TAFE SA chief executive David Coltman said participants would benefit from high quality training and education while immersing themselves in a regional community.

"TAFE SA continues to be the benchmark for quality in vocational education delivery and we're committed to delivering high quality courses right across the state," Mr Coltman said.

"We're thrilled to have been selected as the only training provider to offer these scholarships in SA this year.

"The scholarships are a great opportunity to boost your skills for employment and build on your life experience."

Students must be enrolled at and study for the duration of the course at the Mount Gambier campus to receive support. Visit TAFE SA's website for more information, including eligibility criteria and information on how to apply.

The Destination Australia Scholarship is an initiative of the Commonwealth Department of Education, Skills and Employment and is designed to support students to undertake study in regional Australia.

Dartmoor rail trail underway

THE transformation of Dartmoor's unused rail corridor into a community hub has ceremoniously begun with an official sod turning.

The rail trail project, targeting 1.3km of unused rail track in the town centre, follows five years of community campaigning and will provide residents and visitors with an accessible sealed walking and bike path.

Once completed, the trail will connect the Dartmoor township through to Fort O'Hare camping ground, one of Glenelg Shire's most popular camping spots.

Dartmoor Progress Association president and key project advocate Wendy Dowling said last week's sod turning was a special day for the Dartmoor community.

"Five years ago we began our campaign to secure a lease for the unused rail line and now the project is only months away from completion, it is a huge achievement for our township and we couldn't be more excited," Ms Dowling said.

"The rail trail will be a real asset not only for Dartmoor, but the Glenelg Shire as a whole, encouraging further visitation to our thriving region," she said.

Ms Dowling said the rail trail project - which is managed by Glenelg Shire Council and funded by the Federal Government - could be enjoyed and accessed by all community members.

"We are exceptionally lucky - we have a brilliant town with brilliant volunteers, and we thank all levels of government who played a part in ensuring this much-needed project could be realised."

Agency enters new era

THE bright, red door has swung open to Key 2 Sale's Sturt Street premises, providing a new base for the award-winning Mount Gambier real estate agency.

An ambitious 12-month renovation has transformed the site into a modern office space, complete with an employee wellbeing room, while the exterior was designed to complement the character of Mount Gambier's traditional architecture.

Pushing ahead with the major project despite the emergence of the COVID-19 pandemic, directors Gail Richards and Al Lamond officially launched the new premises last Friday.

"Our staff learned to adapt to working from home very quickly during COVID, and while the tech environment is critical for real estate sales, nothing replaces the information sharing that happens in an office space, where we can work as a team bouncing ideas off one another," Ms Richards said.

Staff now have access to individual office spaces, meeting rooms and shared facilities such as a well-equipped kitchen, with the wellbeing room - a no technology zone - a surprise addition for employees.

"The Key 2 Sale team works incredibly hard and spends a lot of time at the office, so we thought it was important to have a place where we can switch off for a while, in addition to providing pleasant, collaborative workspaces," Ms Richards said.

"The office has a homely, welcoming feel; we really want clients to feel like they are coming into our home as opposed to a corporate office environment, yet there are still those confidential spaces allowing them to discuss their real estate requirements with confidence."

It has been a major transformation of the previously vacant site, with the new facade designed in-line with nearby buildings, including the Varcoe Foundry.

"We love local history and wanted to buy an old building in Mount Gambier, but the right property never really presented itself, so in the end, we practised what we preach as real estate agents and went for location," Ms Richards said.

Key 2 Sale launched as a start-up in 2016, with Ms Richards working from a desk in her laundry and on the road to sell 40 homes in the first 12 months, exceeding her target of two per month.

The agency now comprises nine staff and has been named Rate My Agent's Mount Gambier's agency of the year the last three years.

Ms Richards was also named Mount Gambier's agent of the year from 2018-20.

"We are incredibly proud of our growth and our awards, but it's not about the numbers; it's about the people," Ms Richards said.

Young guns of wine

TWO Limestone Coast residents have been shortlisted among 50 finalists in the 2021 Young Gun of Wine Awards.

Coonawarra's Penley Estate winemaker Lauren Hensen and Wangolina owner and vigneron Anita Goode were selected after two days of intensive judging by a panel of leading industry figures from across the country.

The Goode family have farmed the land of Wangolina Station since 1923 after arriving in Mount Benson in the late 19th century.

Vines were planted on the sprawling property in 1999, with cabernet sauvignon, shiraz and sauvignon blanc going into the ground and the first wines were made in 2001.

At just 15 years of age, Ms Goode chose to do her work experience with Southcorp Wines - now Treasury Wine Estates - which was followed by a degree in winemaking and vintage seasons in America, Australia, Bordeaux and in Mount Benson.

Ms Goode gradually assumed control of the vineyard management from her father from 2013 and she has since replanted and grafted wines over from the original and more traditional plantings.

"In 2015, I took a risk and grafted half of my beloved semillon over to grüner veltliner, one of the first growers to use the Hahndorf Hill clones outside of the Adelaide Hills, and I'm still the only grower of grüner in the Limestone Coast," she said.

"The joy of being the sole winemaker and owner of Wangolina means that the decision making is always on me.??I'm not responsible to anyone but myself when making the wine, and I have learnt how to be resourceful, resilient and reflective when mistakes have been made."

Ms Goode's other strong focus is to champion Mount Benson and Mundalla as regions, saying the areas are often diluted away into big company blends.

Ms Hansen arrived at Penley Estate via a three-year stint as the assistant winemaker for the legendary Pete Bissell at Balnaves.

She graduated from her viticulture and oenology agree as dux as 2012, before working in the Hunter Valley and Victoria.

Ms Hansen works alongside head winemaker Kate Goodman to refine Penley classics and dramatically reframe possibilities with project wines.

"Our goal is to create wines that show a modern approach to a classic style," she said.

"Taking traditional varieties like cabernet, shiraz, merlot and cabernet franc and bringing a new approach and a fresh perspective.

"The goal is to push the boundaries, challenge the norm, and show consumers, and ourselves, a different side to these varieties."

Young Gun of Wine Awards judge Nick Stock said the award, which is in its 15th year, celebrates the newest winemaking talent and brings together those who seek to bend the needle in the direction of interest while redefining the notion of wine quality in Australia.

Mr Stock said the judges tasted wines from every maker in the list were tasted, before their projects and aspirations were discussed, as was their place in the region they work in as well as the broader wine landscape.

"Over the past 15 years, we've seen this forum bring together and promote so many winemakers that have gone on to set a new tone of authenticity in Australian wine that is brazenly modern, brilliantly executed and highly attuned to the tastes of our time," he said.

The winner will be announced at a ceremony later this year, with a final date to be confirmed.

Coast: public views sought

A PARLIAMENTARY committee will hear evidence in relation to the current status and potential reform to the Coast Protection Board in Mount Gambier next week.

Residents and councils are encouraged to present evidence and views on coastal management at a public hearing held by the Environment Resources and Development Committee on April 7.

The committee will tour sites of concern during the three-day visit, including Kingston, Robe, Cape Jaffa, Port MacDonnell, Southend and Beachport as part of the inquiry into the state's statutory body and associated regulations.

The board is a statutory body in South Australia that manages coasts and marine protection issues and provides advice on coastal development.

Protection and development in coastal areas and future management, including community and stakeholder expectations, evidence-based decision making and managing reviews or appeals of decisions will be among the issues investigated by the committee.

The Limestone Coast Local Government Association will present evidence to the committee and highlight some of the challenges faced by councils in managing the coast and suggest changes and increased support for the region.

Kingston District Council will also discuss its coastal challenges, including beach and dune erosion, increased seagrass and sand accumulation.

Committee presiding member and MacKillop MP Nick McBride said it was important for the committee to visit and listen to regional communities before reporting to the parliament later in the year.

The committee will hear evidence at the Mount Gambier City Council chambers on April 7 from 1pm to 4pm and sessions are open to the public.

THINK BEFORE YOU ACT: Limestone Coast Landscape Board landscape officer Saxon Ellis has urged landowners to responsibly deliver their fox baiting plan.

Joint attack

THE Limestone Coast Landscape Board has urged the region's landholders to work with neighbours to produce a coordinated fox control program this season.

According to the board, a coordinated fox control program has proven effective at controlling pest fox numbers.

Limestone Coast landscape officer Saxon Ellis said baiting twice a year was key with early autumn timely given young foxes start to spread from the den, looking for new territory, food and are easily attracted to baits.

Early spring is also effective as vixens require more food during this time.

"There are a range of fox control methods that can be used such as ground shooting, baiting and fumigation of dens," Mr Ellis said.

"Other options may include using guard animals, trapping, exclusion fencing and fox deterrent lights," he said.

"Most effective control occurs if multiple methods are used and by teaming up with your neighbours in a coordinated approach.

"Additionally, whilst any effort to reduce feral fox numbers is a benefit to our landscape, a concentrated neighbourhood baiting program in a condensed period can reduce the fox population significantly whilst limiting the social impact of the baiting."

Foxes are a declared pest animal under the Landscape South Australia Act 2019 and the Limestone Coast Landscape Board is committed to reducing the impact of foxes to native wildlife and agriculture.

Landscape officers can supply 1080 and PAPP fox baits, canid pest ejector capsules, and trap hire.

An approval and notification process must be completed before baiting can be undertaken.

There is a mandatory requirement to notify neighbours of baiting programs and specific distance requirements to assist with safety for dogs, and in some instances wildlife.

Contact the Limestone Coast Landscape Board on 8735 1204 (Mount Gambier) or 8755 1620 (Keith) for more information.

SATURDAY MOLLY'S GAME

SBS, 8.25pm

Renowned screenwriter Aaron Sorkin turns his hand to directing with this entertaining biopic. Jessica Chastain plays Molly Bloom, a world-class skier who decides to run underground poker games for the rich and famous, eventually becoming the target of an FBI investigation. The dialogue is full of Sorkin's trademark sparkle and the film bristles with energy – despite its length and overuse of narration, audiences will most likely find themselves drawn into Molly's world.

SUNDAY THE WOLF OF WALL STREET

WIN, 8.30pm

In this car-crash vision of the American Dream gone horribly wrong, Leonardo DiCaprio (above) is fabulous as infamous money market criminal Jordan Belfort. Based on a true story, it chronicles Belfort's spectacular rise and fall. It's a long and dizzying ride (the runtime clocks in at almost three hours), but DiCaprio's performance – his character is fuelled by money and drugs – and his electric chemistry with Aussie co-star Margot Robbie as his put-upon trophy wife make for an eye-opening trip. Jonah Hill is highly entertaining as Belfort's manic business partner Donnie Azoff. Director Martin Scorsese proves he's still got it with this rather humorous tale of destruction.

TUESDAY INSIGHT

SBS, 8.30pm

Unfiltered and raw, Insight occupies a unique place in the TV landscape. For more than 25 years, the show has ardently explored all sorts of issues and topics, from the political to personal. The live studio audience, featuring a mix of experts and people with first-hand experience on the selected topic, offers the sort of debate and commentary that is sorely lacking in mainstream media.

New presenter Kumi Taguchi has settled brilliantly into her role, and tonight she covers a topic that no doubt has had hordes across the ages clamouring for the answer. In "I Still Do", Taguchi takes a look married couples and investigates what secures marital longevity.

Kumi Taguchi is the host of Insight

SATURDAY FINDING ALICE

ABC TV, 8.20pm

Starring Keeley Hawes (Bodyguard) and Joanna Lumley (Absolutely Fabulous, right), and co-written by Simon Nye (Men Behaving Badly), Finding Alice is likely one of those series you either adore or a source of annoyance. Depending on which side of the fence you find yourself on, it's a delightful black comedy, or a confused drama infused with sudden light moments. At the crux of it all is a fancy, smart-technology new home and the titular Alice (Hawes), who has just moved into the abode with her husband – only to find him dead at the bottom of their state-of-the-art stairs. Overcome with grief, and debt, Alice's bereavement is heightened by the unfolding mystery.

THE GOOD LIFE

$769,000 to $789,000

The good life could be a reality with this wonderful country Home, giving the new owner that luxury of an open space lifestyle living with the convenience of city life at your doorstep.

The home, built in 2001, is of solid brick and tile construction and has substantial oversized rooms. On entering the front of the home into a greeting area there is a large formal lounge and formal dining room to the left. A door from the dining room leads into the kitchen for the hostess's ease of access.

The master bedroom is at the front of the house on the right as you enter. There is a large walk-in robe and the ensuite to the main bedroom is equipped with a large spa bath, vanity, toilet and shower.

Additionally, there are 3 other double bedrooms, and a large office/study, which could also be used as a bedroom, totalling 5 bedrooms if required. An open plan kitchen, meals area and family room service the family. A separate bathroom with shower, bath, vanity and separate toilet services the other bedrooms.

Additionally, there is an exceptionally large theatre/rumpus/gym room leading from the family room which also opens to the mammoth undercover gabled outside entertaining area. This outside area is completely fenced allowing a safe area for young children or pets.

The double garage with two roller doors underneath the main roof has plenty of storage room as well. There is access to the house and to the outdoor covered area from the garage. Additional separate parking for vehicles is located next to the double garage.

This home boasts 2700cm (9 foot approx.) ceiling heights throughout, generous solid wood architraves and skirting boards; solid wood with leadlight inserts internal doors; beautiful handcrafted solid wood kitchen with display cabinets, dishwasher, overhead cupboards, walk in pantry and a Germania freestanding gas cooker. Two gas outlets are provided in the undercover outdoors pergola area for cooking and/or heating.

Excellent flooring is throughout the home with tiling to traffic areas; floating timber floors to the formal areas, main bedroom, study and theatre/rumpus room, with carpets to the family bedrooms.

A good quantity of power points is available in all rooms of the house, together with TV points and network cabling. Most rooms have overhead fans, and the home is heated and cooled by a 6-zoned reverse cycle air conditioner. A slow combustion heater with fan in the family room provides further comforting winter warmth.

A walk-in pantry in the kitchen and a walk-in linen-press off the hallway provide plenty of storage, along with a big walk-in robe in the main bedroom and one also in the 4th bedroom. Built in robes and student desks are provided in the other two bedrooms.

LIMESTONE COAST
PROPERTY GUIDE

10 Lake Terrace East, Mount Gambier

Character, location and room

PLEASURE to offer this unique character home, located in a sought-after area on the side of Mount Gambier's famous Blue Lake.

Set on an old fashion just under 1/2 acre allotment measuring 1,835 sq/m; a size giving the new owner the luxury of room for the family to play, the gardener with the green thumb or just room to do whatever you like.

Long-time established trees and gardens complement this stunning turn of century Dolomite Villa.

The home still carries its old-style charm with ornate ceilings, sash windows, polished timber floors, handcrafted bookcases and sweeping verandahs.

There is room for the family as this home has 4 bedrooms, 2 bedrooms upstairs, with a rumpus room ideal for the older kids to have their space.

Downstairs there is a main bedroom with the luxury of ensuite and walk-in robe.

A 4th bedroom has built-in robes and a colonial style second bathroom is great for the growing family.

Country style kitchen includes a dishwasher, heaps of cupboard space and great views of the rear yard and patio.

Formal lounge and dining open to each other and would be a great area for formal functions or relax with a glass of wine with friends.

A front room originally used as a music room creates another space as a lounge, study or television room.

Slow combustion heating and three split system air-conditioning keeps the home the right temperature all year round.

Outside of the home is a dream come true, a large front verandah has sweeping views over Mt Gambier city and just a great place to sit and relax and watch the world go by.

A covered rear alfresco area with adjoining patio makes a great place to gather with family and friends. All this looking over beautiful established trees, lawns and gardens.

Looking for garage space, a four-bay high clearance garage and workshop, perfect for handymen and room for caravans and boats and great road access.

There is also a double length garage with a remote door making easy access to the house.

Rainwater, woodshed, cubby house, ground trampoline, garden shed, firepit area and a gorgeous walnut tree that is the best shade in those summer months all complement this adorable family home.

BRING BACK THE BIG BANDS: Generations In Jazz will return in April 2022.

Vision formed for iconic fest

THE future of Generations In Jazz has been put in the spotlight by organisers as they prepare a long-term vision for the nationally-renowned music showcase.

Key stakeholders joined organisers at strategic planning meetings last month to discuss the event's strengths, opportunities and direction, as well as its scheduled return in April 2022 following two successive postponements due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

Generations in Jazz Board chairman Peter Roberts said normally the organisation would be in full swing managing the final stages for the event but was instead conducting a review and crafting a five-year plan.

"The board is intently focused on using this time to review the passion for and the 'why's' of holding this event, to ensure that the plan for the next five years reflects the best possible outcomes," Mr Roberts said. A second session focused on the logistical feedback from those who are "hands on" in the event.

"This offered a valuable insight on what we do now and what we can do into the future," Mr Roberts said.

"Of course not only are we gathering this feedback for the future five years, we are also very intent on planning a truly epic event for 2022 - really delivering the 'wow' factor.

"It is really important that our core market, the schools, know that we are working hard to bring a truly great return event after two years of cancellations."

While not in a position to confirm guest artists just yet, Mr Roberts said artistic director James Morrison would deliver a Saturday evening concert you would only ever see at Generations in Jazz.

Generations In Jazz 2022 will be held from April 29 to May 1.

Shared relief: Moody blue exhibition open

RAQUEL MUSTILLO

raquel.mustillo@tbwtoday.com.au

A COLLECTION of blue-themed relief prints by Limestone Coast, Melbourne and Sydney artists will be showcased at the Millicent Gallery next week as part of an interstate exhibition.

Limestone Coast residents and Thumb Print Workshop Incorporated members Anne Miles, Diana Wiseman, Julie Bignell, Libby Altschwager, Sally O'Conner, Sue Shaw and Trudy Tanberg will share gallery space with artists from Victoria's Firestation Print Studio and the Bathurst Street Printmakers for the Moody Blue exhibition.

More than 40 artworks created using processes such as linocut, woodcut and wood engraving as the primary medium will be on display at the gallery from April 6.

Wattle Range Council libraries and cultural services manager Janice Nitschke said the securing the exhibition was a coup for the Millicent Gallery.

"We are very excited to be able to exhibit the Moody Blue exhibition which is a collection of work by three very talented printmaking groups," she said.

"This is the only gallery space this exhibit will be in across the Limestone Coast and it is great to showcase some of the very high calibre work that is done by local artists."

Ms Nitschke said the exhibition followed from the recent Clare Belfrage exhibition, which she touted among the gallery's most popular displays.

"Our calibre of displays in the gallery is very high quality and we are proud to be able to continue this year's strong exhibits with Moody Blue," she said.

"Now Millicent is firmly on the tourist trail, we have number of people coming in from Sydney, Melbourne and Adelaide so it is great we have both interstate and local artists who keep supporting us."

The exhibit can be viewed during Millicent Gallery opening hours from 9am to 5.30pm from Tuesday to Friday and on Sunday from 2pm to 4pm.

Contact the Millicent Library on 8733 0903 for more information.

VOYAGE FOR VETERANS: BAY TO BIRDWOOD

BY EWAN KENNEDY,
MARQUE MOTORING

REGISTRATIONS for the 2021 Bay to Birdwood, one of the world's great historic motoring events are now open. The event will take place in 2021 on Sunday 26 September.

"2020 saw the Bay to Birdwood adapt and change to the challenging circumstances faced by many events throughout Australia," said National Motor Museum Director, Paul Rees.

"It was the support of the motoring enthusiasts, the spectators and for the first-time viewers from around the country and internationally that made the 2020 Bay to Birdwood one of the first and biggest post-Covid events in the nation."

This year's event will follow in the footsteps of the previous year with a Covid-safe environment to keep all participants and spectators safe and will again be a showcase of motoring history, with vehicles from all decades - antique, veteran, vintage and post-war/early classic, classic, post classic and modern up to 31 December 1991.

"The Bay to Birdwood's new shape - celebrating all eras of historic motoring - was 'road-tested' last year and was such a success that this will be the new look for the Bay to Birdwood from hereon in," said the Bay to Birdwood Chair, Michael Neale. "It is an iconic event, part of the fabric of the nation and we are really proud to have it here in South Australia every year."

"The drive is one of the major attractions of the Bay to Birdwood", said the museum's Senior Curator, Mick Bolognese. "It is beautiful in any vehicle, but in a veteran or a classic, it is a unique experience. For spectators, seeing hundreds of gorgeous cars, bikes, trucks and even tanks in some years, rolling along the road is a great treat."

The route for 2021 sees the parade of hundreds of citizen-collector owned historic vehicles travel from Anzac Highway up Greenhill, Fullarton and then North East Roads through the lower-Hills and up into the Adelaide Hills via Inglewood, Gumeracha and finishing at the National Motor Museum in Birdwood.

RAMBLING: Plenty of variety at the 2020 Bay To Birdwood.

TOUGH TASK: Shane Kennett, Jacki Barnett, Pam Menzel and Jen Buckland work hard together to remain out in front during the Mount Gambier Cycling Club's Summer Series handicap race on Sunday.

Pictures: SARAH WALKOM

RUN FOR THE LINE: Chris Kennett sprints to the line to claim the win and fastest time over Nick Kidman and Matt Opperman.

Scratch riders push through

THE penultimate Mount Gambier Cycling Club Summer Series race was held on Sunday, with four junior riders greeting the starter for a 10km handicap event.

After his victory in the previous week, Eddie Buckland was given slightly less of a head start this time around.

Molly Opperman and Freya Miller left together, four minutes after Eddie, followed a further minute later by Elmer Buckland.

Taking advantage of the slight tailwind on the outward leg, Eddie Buckland minimised his losses and turned for home well ahead of the chasing riders.

Opperman rode strongly, having pulled away from Miller, with Elmer Buckland working hard to bridge the gap to both of them.

As the racers neared the finish line, it became clear Eddie was in a rich vein of form for the moment, as he took victory once again.

Opperman managed to continue her strong ride back into the wind, finishing second.

Elmer caught Miller just after the turnaround and they rode together to try to bridge the gap to Opperman, but to no avail.

In the sprint to determine the final spot on the podium, Elmer managed to edge out Miller to take third place and fastest time.

Another large number of riders signed on for the senior 30km handicap race, with seven riders joining from Hamilton.

The 21 starters were placed into three large groups, with Jason Buckland, Jen Buckland, Pam Menzel, Jacki Barnett and Shane Kennett first to leave.

Some 12 minutes later Spek Peake, John

Cranwell, Bruce McLaughlin, Phil Stasiw, Dean Zeven, John De Pree, Mike Bakker, Jami Buckley, Harry Opperman, Rhyann Menzel, Dean Menzel and Colin Weatherill departed, with a two-minute head start on the final group of Chris Kennett, Matthew Opperman, Rohan Garfoot and Nick Kidman.

The pace was on from the outset, with some riders finding the going tough and losing touch with their bunch within the initial 10km.

The scratch riders pushed hard, catching all of the middle group by the halfway mark and on target to catch the limit group before the finish line.

At the halfway mark, it was Jen Buckland, Barnett, Pam Menzel and Shane Kennett still in front, with Jason Buckland between them and the next bunch.

After the turnaround it seemed the wind picked up and was directly into the faces of the riders.

Some of the groups, which had split on the outward journey, connected back up again.

The pace was still hot from the scratch riders and they passed the limit riders with 5km still to race.

As the race neared the finish line, Chris Kennett sprinted ahead to take the victory (with fastest time) just ahead of Kidman and Matthew Opperman, with Rhyann Menzel and Dean Menzel finishing in the bunch.

There will be a break over the Easter weekend, before the final race of the series to be held on Sunday April 11, a 40km shotgun race where the riders will all start at the same time, but with handicapped head starts.

Offshore catches excite

on the water
FISHING

SOME great weather over the weekend was a delight to fishos on the Limestone Coast, with plenty of stories filtering through.

The offshore guys have been into some more nice fish again this week.

The guys from Southerly Charters have been at it again, putting their clients onto some nice gummy and school sharks from the 80m depths, along with some nice mixed reef fish.

There have been acres and acres of baitfish working up out there in the last week or so, so the tuna should be here very soon.

The sea over the next week or two and into the Easter break looks fabulous.

I would say we will see a few more boats on the water and hopefully a few tuna.

The surf fishos have continued catching some reasonable fish this week.

I have heard of more gummy shark to 8kg from the Paradise and Green Point areas, along with plenty of snapper, some undersize mullet and salmon.

There have been some more reports this week of some reasonable salmon coming from the Beachport Salmon Hole.

The guys fishing baits have done the best but the lure guys are getting solid numbers of slightly smaller fish.

If we are getting some good ones now, hopefully it is a sign for a cracking winter.

The garfish have improved.

A few of the keen anglers last week said that the fish were tapering off a bit, but now it seems they have come back in droves and we are seeing some of those big red-beaked winter fish turning up.

The usual haunts around Cape Douglas, Livingstons Bay and Pelican Point have fished quite well for both the waders and the boaties.

A few anglers have fished the Port MacDonnell jetty for garfish with some nice results.

The beauty of the jetty is the variety of fish you will find in there.

FRUITFUL TRIP: Southerly Charters put some clients onto some nice shark over the weekend off Port MacDonnell.

While targeting gar, you are likely to find mullet, tommy ruff, salmon trout, mackerel and trevally, just to name a few.

Whiting have been a bit tough for the land-based anglers this week - the normal go-to areas around Carpenter Rocks and Cape Douglas have been a bit weedy to fish well - but the boaties have more-than made up for it.

The Port MacDonnell breakwater has fished well, as has Carpenter Rocks.

Hopefully as the weather settles more in the coming days we see the weed clear up and the fish start to fire up again.

I saw some lovely big bream from the Glenelg River Angling Club's competition over the weekend, with some of those bags of five fish up near 4kg.

There was one mullet weighed in caught by Bec Cram at Donovans, but a few others outside of the competition found a couple as well.

There has been some nice bags of bream caught from down around Nelson.

Across from the main launching ramp, down on the edge of the mud lake and around Holloways Drain have all been hot spots.

Upriver there has been some reasonable fish too.

The Sapling Creek area has been the most mentioned but I am sure they will be fairly spread out down there.

The Easter forecast looks to be warm for the lead up, then cooling down.

I just hope the wind stays under 20km/h and the sea stays flat.

From the crew at Spot On Fishing Tackle Mount Gambier we hope you all have a fantastic Easter and manage to get out on the water.

Ideal winds for final round

THE Port MacDonnell Sailing Club wound up its season on the weekend, with two races staged in pleasant conditions.

The first race kept binoculars glued to eyes as the competitive field vied for the honours.

Club handicap honours went to Tom Paltridge and Lesa Van Uiter on Windy Fred, from Don McLennan, Peter Seeborn and Stephen Dyble on Harmony, with Morris Dickins, Nick Watson, Stella Harfield and Bruce Douglas third on Freycinet.

Class handicap also went to Windy Feed, ahead of Freycinet, with Dave Evans, Darryl Brooksby and Peter Gropler third on Farr-Mer.

Farr-Mer claimed the second race on club handicap, from Windy Fred and Mack Ferguson, John Kain and Jennifer Jones on Papillon, with the same finishing order for class handicap.

CLOSE QUARTERS: Freycinet, Papillon, Salt Peter and Harmony vie for honours during the final weekend of the season for the Port MacDonnell Sailing Club.

Seaside team claims fours

ROBE Bowling Club claimed an emphatic 17-9 victory in the Lower South East Bowls Association Champion of Champions Fours competition.

David Robinson, Errol Jennings, Robin Ling and Paul Truelove travelled to Mount Gambier RSL to compete in the championships, with some impressive bowling along the way.

First up they defeated neighbours Beachport convincingly, then Lucindale and then Mount Gambier RSL for the right to play Naracoorte in the decider.

The Robe team kept up their concentration and good play and had an impressive win over Naracoorte.

GREYHOUND RACING

PORTLAND greyhound Rotate opened his winning account this year for owner-trainer Robert Halliday when surprising in the Swallow Drive Meats Open Stake over 512 metres at last Sunday's Tara Raceway meeting.

One of the outsiders in the six-dog field, the blue dog gained a clear passage early from box eight before settling in second spot mid-race behind the well-fancied Spring Value who looked to be travelling like a winner.

But off the back Rotate found the front before running out a three-quarters of a length winner in 30.03 seconds over $2.10 favourite Silent Jacko, while the early leader was a further half-length back in third spot.

For the son of General Destini and Guru Doll it was his 10th win from 50 starts, Halliday later saying he would run Rotate in the Commercial Hotel Mount Gambier Cup heats (512m) in a fortnight's time.

"Look, I wouldn't expect that he would make it through to the cup final but there's always the cup consolation to fall back on," Halliday said.

The long-time trainer has never won a Mount Gambier Cup but was successful in the 2018 cup consolation with his former terrific chaser Hutch who defeated Henry in a best-of-day time of 29.56 seconds.

In fact, Hutch contested three Mount Gambier Cups, reaching the 2017 final which was won by the flying Fabregal.

The following year he finished unplaced in a heat behind Print The Money before winning the consolation.

CLOSE CALL: Rotate narrowly defeats Silent Jacko and Spring Value at Tara Raceway last Sunday.

Then, in 2019, he ran Aston It Is to 1¼ lengths in a heat.

Meanwhile, Koroit trainer Peter Keane was back at Tara Raceway with Gotcha Laz for last Sunday's Bartholomew Pick 6 Grade 5 final (400m).

This was after being initially unaware the brindle dog's outstanding win at the track the previous week had been in a heat.

"To be honest, I had no idea that the race he won had been a heat until I received an email from GRSA a few days' later informing me that Gotcha Laz had drawn box seven in last Sunday's final," Keane said.

"I should have been aware of the procedure in relation to heats and final races at SA tracks.

"As a result Lindsay (Brookes) and I made the trip over with only one dog when we could have brought a few more had the nominations not already been closed."

But for all that, the trip turned out to be worthwhile after Gotcha Laz, a member of the successful Fernando Bale x Sisco Sizzle litter, turned in an another outstanding effort in last Sunday's final when leading all the way to defeat Aston Model by 1¼ lengths in 22.92 seconds.

Gotcha Laz is now likely to tackle the Formula 400 at cup time. This is an Open event over 400 metres with heats on Sunday, April 11 and the final complementing the Mount Gambier Cup on Sunday, April 18.

The Keane-trained pair Me Silly and Hello Keen, both littermates of Gotcha Laz, are also likely to return for the Mount Gambier Cup heats after recently clocking 30.00 seconds and 30.04 seconds respectively over 512 metres when placed behind Rough In Vegas.

Additional track funding

GREYHOUND RACING

FOLLOWING consultation between Greyhound Racing SA Strategic Projects Manager Scott Wuchatsch and the Mount Gambier Greyhound Racing Club committee, additional funding has been allocated for agreed projects at Tara Raceway.

Projects the committee identified as funding priorities were a greyhound ambulance (John Deere Gator), an upgraded water trailer (manual track irrigation) and a concrete tractor turn-around.

In addition, the committee believed there was a need for additional wash bays in the vicinity of the kennel house.

Also identified as a priority were new entrances to the facility along with perimeter fencing.

Wuchatsch said the estimated cost of the agreed projects would be in the vicinity of $110,000.

This would leave $20,000 remaining for other projects.

"Other suggested projects include a concrete kerb along the front straight, a second slipping track, automated greyhound educational circuit, septic system for kennel house and maintenance/vehicle shed," Wuchatsch said.

LAHARUM trainer Jeff Guy reports Fugacious, a daughter of Fernando Bale x Dark Smiffy, is still on track for the Mount Gambier Cup after two 512-metre March wins at Tara Raceway in 29.66 seconds and 29.70 seconds.

Guy, an Adelaide Crows supporter, was at Tara Raceway last Sunday with Fugacious's younger half-brother Sloane The Crow (by Kinloch Brae) who had his first start at the track after two previous runs at Horsham.

The Guy-bred brindle dog led all the way from box two in the Rock's Tavern Maiden Stake (305m), eventually running out a 1¼ lengths winner over perennial placegetter Saint Eilish in 17.96 seconds.

Horsham's Bill Hartigan landed his first winner as a trainer at Tara Raceway since De-lusional Fab in November 2019 when Aston Helena found the front down the back before running away to a 2½ lengths win over Golden Lester in the JB Irrigation Maiden/One Win Stake (512m) in 30.36 seconds.

According to Hartigan, the progress of the daughter of Fernando Bale and Aston Upton had been hampered by seasonal issues.

Last Sunday's win was Aston Helena's first since last August when she was successful in a maiden event at Horsham.

"Apparently she broke-in very well and there's no doubt she possesses plenty of ability," Hartigan said.

"Getting it out of her . . . well, that's another story."

Chloe Burner wrapped up a good month

WINNER: Young Chase with Connie's Entity who contributed to a good month for Jason Newman and Melissa Freitag.

for the Worm Burner x Thanks Tubby litter when leading all the way to defeat Sonic Sammy by 3¼ lengths in the Winmore Greyhound Kennels Stake (512m) in a personal best time of 30.11 seconds.

All told, the litter won six races for the month at Tara Raceway - Chloe Burner, Alpaca Delilah and Bourne Burner all winning two races.

Also enjoying a good month was Moorak couple Jason Newman and Melissa Freitag who race Alpaca Delilah and Thursday, March 25 winner Connie's Entity, another one who had been hampered by seasonal issues.

Iron Arrow testing

IT was a foray into untested stamina territory for three members of the Blue Lake Archers who entered the recent Great Southern Archers Iron Arrow archery endurance contest.

Ian Harris, Ben Kilsby and Paul Freeman nominated into the endurance test which pitted them against outdoor target, field and indoor archery rounds, all in the same day.

To put it into perspective, the local archers normal event repertoire varies from 60 and up to 120 arrows for a full session on the range, 90 arrows being the most common local event.

The Iron Arrow required 222 arrows to be shot and scored in a single day across three different venues.

The day began at Strathalbyn at 9am as the 15 archers lined up for a 90-arrow outdoor target WA 60/900 event, a familiar round to the local archers who compete in that round regularly.

The initial event concluded at lunch with a break before a shift to the less familiar field archery event at the GSA field range.

A trek through the 24-target bushland field archery course in warm conditions greeted the archers, with a total of 72 arrows required.

The final challenge after a 40 km drive to GSA's Goolwa indoor range put the group back on more familiar territory as they tackled a double Australian indoor round totalling 60 arrows, the same as a regular Friday night on the Mount Gambier indoor range.

The long day concluded with a presentation immediately after the indoor round, a full 12 hours after the day began.

Harris competed in the Veteran plus division, Freeman in the Masters division and Kilsby in the Open.

An unusual scoring system effectively added bonus points for the field and indoor sections to acknowledge those archers completing all three events.

The trio representing Blue Lake Archers were fatigued at the end of the day, but all three successfully completed the day that saw several archers retire during the events.

Freeman and Harris were in the senior division and received certificates for completing the entire challenge.

In the open men's division Ben Kilsby went even better and was declared the overall winner of that division.

TOUGH CHALLENGE: Ian Harris prepares to shoot in the field archery section of the Iron Arrow event.

ner of that division.

Indoor archery continues tonight at the Blue Lake Gymnastics Club, Malseed Park from 7.30pm followed by outdoor archery at Corriedale Park 12.30pm Sunday.

WA 60/900 outdoor round, possible score 900 points: Ben Kilsby 866; Paul Freeman 799;

Ian Harris 781.

24 target Field, possible score 432 points: Ben Kilsby 385; Paul Freeman 305; Ian Harris 261.

Double Australian Indoor 18m, possible score 600 points: Ben Kilsby 591; Paul Freeman 551; Ian Harris 555.

MEDAL WINNERS: Emily Lynch, Les Jagger and Jacob Gordon all claimed medals in the race walk event at the State Individual Championships in Adelaide.

Impressive performance from athletes

MOUNT Gambier little athletes returned from the State Individual Championships in Adelaide with a swag of medals.

The Mount Gambier District Little Athletics Centre took a team of 19 athletes to Adelaide to compete, along with coach Sally Taylor.

The group claimed 10 medals - five gold, one silver and four bronze - along with many personnel best performances.

Stand out performances came from Hamish Gordon who won two gold medals in discus and shot put and a bronze in the 1100m race walk.

Gordon also achieved a State Best Performance for the U11 boys in the discus with a throw of 35.40m.

Ben Ellis won one gold medal in the U9 boy's high jump and a bronze in the 800m race.

Harry Ellis has been selected in the State Little Athletics Team for the 1500m and 800m.

Saskia Brogan, a new athlete this season, competed in U10 girls and in her five events achieved all PB's.

Six athletes competed in the race walk events for five medals.

Brother and sister duo Hamish and Annabelle Gordon won bronze and silver in the 1100m race walk with new PB's.

The club will hold its wind-up and medal presentation on Sunday April 11 at the Mount Gambier High School starting at 1pm.

MGDLAC will also run a cross country season, with the first event on the morning April 11 at Marist Park, starting at 10am.

ALL SMILES: Ben Ellis was excited to claim his gold medal in the State Individual Championships in Adelaide.

Finals spots on the line

COUGARS' season was on the line, with a win needed to have a chance to make finals in the MG Plasterers South East Coast Basketball League men's competition.

They did just that on the back of an impressive effort from Tobi de Wit and Josh McGregor, who came out all guns blazing to combine for 59 points.

Dale Bachmann had his best SECBL scoring game for Roos with 37 points.

However, Roos could not match it with the high-scoring power of Cougars who put the game away early for a final 99-78 result.

Panthers and Cats fought out their match for top spot on the ladder, both with a 12-2 win/loss ration heading into the clash.

The two sides generally play free-flowing basketball, but the game quickly turned into a defensive tussle, as both sides worked hard to reduce the efficiency of their opponents.

Cat star Josh Murphy used his size to create space for his deadly mid-range game, while Brad Rathjen and Kyle Tipene found their range for the Panthers, connecting on 11 triples between them.

Panthers managed to hold on to their lead for a 69-59 victory and top spot going in to the first round of finals.

It was a must-win game for Bulldogs Red for any hope at a finals position, but it was the Bulldogs Blue wide which came away with the chocolates.

The game was tense early and tight right up to the half way mark.

Blue used their half-time break well and picked up their intensity in the third quarter, with the lead out to 12 points.

With their season on the line the Red side clawed its way back to trail by single digits going into the final term but their their offence dried up in the final stanza and Blue's Simon Berkefeld got hot on his way to a game-high 28 points to put an end to Red's season with an 80-60 win.

For the women, the Cats were playing to secure the all-important top spot against Cougars.

While Cougars took it right up to the top-placed Cats, even holding onto a one-point lead with seven minutes to play, the Cats were too strong in the end.

When Cougars' Keryl Ousey fouled out the Cats made their move to claim a 10-point lead and put the game to rest.

Georgia Winter leading all scorers with 16 points and was well supported by Lucy Denton with 15.

For the Cougars the Horrigan sisters combined for 27 points.

The final game of the season for Bulldog/ Roos provided a chance to showcase some of their emerging talent.

Siobhan Adams had her best SECBL scoring game with 19 points, including three three-pointers, while Sarah Nulty showed what she is capable of with 13 points.

However, they could not match the depth and experience of Saints, with Pioneers' captain Jasmin Howe finding her spots and controlling the tempo of the game to ensure her team held on for a 66-52 victory.

Birdies fly around

Winning repeat performance

SATURDAY'S Monthly Medal Stroke round at the Blue Lake Golf Club produced a plethora of birdies.

A normal stroke round will give up around 25 for the day but with the extra length on medal days that number is reduced.

But not on Saturday, with no less than 38 birdies for the day.

Leading the way and also claiming the overall win was Marc Dalton with his round of 68-2-66.

It is always good to see a classy golfer put together a fine round and that was the case with Dalton.

Having slipped from his scratch handicap, Dalton is doing everything he can to get back to that elite status.

After starting with a bogey Dalton righted that with his only birdie on the front nine on the ninth hole to turn one over with 36.

He then did not blight his scorecard from then on in, adding birdies on the 12th, 13th and 17th holes for a superb 32 off the stick.

It was a well-deserved win, although he did have to hold off Robbie Drenthen in a count-back. In A Grade David Dowie also went on a birdie spree with three of his own including successive birdies to open the back nine.

He was well on track to take the outright win and register a sub-par nine but a disastrous double bogey on the last sent him into a count-back with Jarrod Ryan for the A Grade win.

His 36 was good enough to see off Ryan, who did all his scoring early.

Even with a double bogey on the fifth hole he still managed a respectable 37 on the front nine.

Rounding out the grade placings was Josh Gale with a round of 76-7-69, with pars on the last five holes to set himself up for a successful run at the GEM Easter Tournament.

B Grade winner Andrew Schubert butchered his start, opening his round with three double bogeys in the first four holes but then showed his class with a nice birdie on the eighth.

His back nine also went from mutton to lamb, three more doubles mixed in with four pars to close out with splits of 43 each.

Last week's hard luck story John Robertson continued his improvement with his nett 70 good enough for second place.

After getting some expert coaching tips on tee set up, Robertson's game has gone from strength to strength and he will soon break through for a win.

Third placed Robert Martland is another who is featuring regularly in the prize lists and except for two mini disasters on the third and 11th holes would have had a shot at the top prize.

Drenthen was compensated for his loss in the count-back for overall winner by taking out the main prize for C Grade, followed by Lockie Byrne (99-30-69) and Jordan Williams (97-26-71) for the minor prizes.

Scores for the ball winner prizes better reflected the difficulty of the course, ranging from Bryce Smith with 69 through to Jamal

Jakubenko on 74.

Novelty prizes for the day went to putting maestro John Millhouse, grade winners Jason Clauson, Schubert and Byrne, while monthly medal winners in their respective grades were Dalton, Schubert and Drenthen.

LAST week's winner of the mid week competition at the Blue Lake Golf Club Tayte Spencer proved it was no fluke by taking out this week's stroke round.

Spencer (86-23-63) was off to a slow start, not registering a par until the fifth hole.

However, from there he hardly put a foot wrong, icing his cake with a birdie on the ninth.

Turning with 41 off the stick he would have been eyeing off a sub-60 round but he stumbled slightly with a couple of double bogeys on the inward nine.

It was a case of young and old between first and second and there was also clear daylight with the score. Next best was veteran David Lock who turned back time with a 90-22-68, a full five strokes adrift of Spencer.

Lock gained valuable real estate with his pars on the 11th and 12th holes but almost gave it all back with a blowout on the 17th.

He managed to hold off Ian Bown (77-8-69) in third who came charging home with a superb 37 on the back nine.

Bown needed all those good shots to hold off Tony Steen who also shot a nett 69.

Steen's round showed plenty of steel with splits of 41 and 40 but ended up on the wrong side of the count-back.

Scores of 71 or 72 were needed to win a ball prize which included Graham Burke, Colin Tester, Alan Stewart, Stephen Von Duve, Garry Fox, Ross McMahon and Simun Lalich.

Lady's turn to take the lead

HISTORICALLY it has been Alan Stewart who has given his partner Lesley McPherson golfing instructions but after her win in Saturdays women's stroke round at the Blue Lake Golf Club it may well be the other way around in the future.

McPherson set the bragging rights early with her par on the second hole and proved it was no fluke with another on the difficult eighth.

Her continued improvement has seen her handicap fall and it will not be long before she breaks through the 20 barrier.

A count-back for second was needed after Dianne Perryman and Cheryl Hill both finished tied on 74.

Perryman eventually got the nod thanks to her 45 on the back nine.

McPherson was not satisfied with just the overall win and also picked up more ball prizes for her best nett score and another for her prowess with the flat stick, while Ronda Edwards won the long drive.

Damp conditions limit the numbers

THE drizzly weather last week deterred a few women from taking part in the first qualifying round of the handicap championships for 2021 and the rescheduled first round of the Collins Court Butcher Captain's Trophy at the Blue Lake golf course.

In the end 16 women ventured out onto the course to play the stroke competition and to put scores on the board.

Division 1 winner Josie Ashby showed again she was able to put together a reasonable score which included a birdie on the dog-leg ninth hole and a par on the par 3 16th with splits of 48/47 (95-19-76).

Handicapper Dianne Perryman was a further three strokes behind posting 48/50 (98-19-79).

In Division 2 it was Lyn Annand showing the way and able to take the top voucher carding 119 -33-86 and due to low entrants there was no runner-up.

Nearest to the pin second shot on the par three second hole went to Division 1's Sue Agars and the pro-shot winner was Bev Pascoe.

SUCCESS: Blue Lake Golf Club Division 2 winner Lyn Annand with Division 1 winner Josie Ashby.

Shocks but finals take shape

THE leading qualifiers curse struck again in Saturday's quarter-finals of the Mount Gambier Golf Club's men's club championships.

For the second year in succession, the players who finished on top of the rankings after two rounds of qualifying in A Reserve, B Grade and C Grade were all bundled out in the quarter-finals.

The only No.1 seed to progress to the semi-finals, to be played on Sunday, April 10, was Anthony Williams who remains the man to beat.

Even his position in the last four looked in doubt after his quarter-final opponent, Stacey Fiebert, went one-up after holing a birdie putt from off the green on the par-four 12th hole.

No more than a single stroke had separated the pair to that point, with Williams going one-up on the third hole, Fiebert getting back to square on the fifth, Williams again pulling ahead on the par-three eighth and Fiebert levelling the match on the 11th.

A superb drive into the strong wind on the tough par-four 13th, followed by a brilliant eight-iron to 2m, set up a birdie for Williams and the clash was again all square.

He followed that with another win on the 14th and a pair of par fives on the 15th saw Fiebert suddenly running out of opportunities.

He had a quality tee shot to about 3m on the par-three 16th but could not convert the putt, leaving Williams still ahead by one on the 17th tee.

Unfortunately Fiebert's drive found tree trouble off the right side of the fairway and that was compounded when he hit his second into thick rough on the left side of the fairway.

When his third shot found the green-side bunker he needed a miracle and almost produced one with his fourth shot just missing the hole.

Meanwhile Williams got up-and-down from off the back of the green for a par and a hard-fought 2-and-1 victory.

With two weeks before his semi-final against two-time runner-up Setio Prajogo-Shanahan, Williams admitted not all parts of his game were on song.

"I'm hitting them okay, but I think I'll have to do some extra work on my approach shots," the 41-year-old said.

Prajogo-Shanahan showed he would be up for the clash by easily moving past Joe Clements 5-and-4, setting up the win by shooting one-under par 35 on the front nine to lead by two at the turn.

The other quarter-finals went as expected with Hayden Cook downing Matt Knowles 4-and-2, and three-time club champion

IMPRESSIVE: Gianni Giurastante took top honours in the 94-strong stableford field at the Mount Gambier Golf Club.

Hayden Schroder overcoming Craig Foster 2-and-1.

Cook and Schroder will meet in the other semi-final, with Cook hoping to get a shot at his first club championship after finishing runner-up to Darren Bilney in last year's final.

One of the biggest surprises of the day came in A Reserve where leading qualifier Jason Mann was beaten 2-up by teenager Calum Harvey.

The big-hitting Mann has been in excellent form in recent months, but could not overcome the dogged Harvey who will face fellow teen Mitch Handford in the semis after he accounted for John Shirley 6-and-4.

The other semi-final in A Reserve will see Tim Driver, who beat David Anderson 2-up, take on Josh Knowles who got past Paul Reade 4-and-3.

The B Grade semi-finals will see Moryn Sullivan clash with Bryan Hunt, and Rob Harkness do battle with Brett Shepherdson.

Sullivan pulled off the biggest surprise in that grade, accounting for leading qualifier Michael Rookas 2-up.

In C Grade, top seed Rob McLellan also went out in the quarters, beaten 4-and-2 by Kev Lennon who took full advantage of his late call-up.

Lennon will now face Jack Jennings in the semis after he beat veteran Peter Buckingham 1-up.

The other C Grade semi will be contested by Matthew Bowering and Haydn Dow after they knocked out Graham Robinson and Graeme Armstrong respectively.

While the club championship hopefuls were doing battle, a stableford competition was also held with Gianni Giurastante taking top honours in the 94-strong field.

Playing off a seven handicap, the 23-year-old shot a superb even-par round of 72 to record 43 point, three clear of runner-up Ross Anderson.

Giurastante made the turn at one-over par (19 points) after a birdie on the par-four third and a costly double-bogey six on the fourth.

He caught fire on the back nine, racking up another 24 points after shooting a one-under par 35, only a bogey on the 18th hole costing him the chance of a sub-par round.

Runner-up behind Giurastante in A Grade was Bryan Pink with 39 points, while the rapidly-improving David Pick took out B Grade with the same score, two clear of Peter Berkefeld.

Anderson's 40 points was good enough to take top spot in C Grade, Blake Diedrich claiming second with 38.

Last Thursday's stableford event saw Winston Prowse take top spot in the 102-strong field with 41 points from his 25 handicap.

That was two clear of three players, Peter Baker taking second on a count-back from three-handicappers Jeff Hodge and Shane Brook who both shot rounds of even-par 72 off the stick.

Veterans face up to challenge

A TOUGH challenge faced 68 SE Veterans golfers when the descended on the Millicent golf course, despite the calm conditions.

Mick Pedlar was the exception, scoring 40 points to take out first division from Robe's Kev Otten and Beachport's John Howe on 38.

Second division went to Penola's Trevor Williams on 39, from Roy Mitchell on 35 and Glen Tilley on 34.

The ball rundown went all the way down to 29 and the nearest to pins were Ron Hatley and Darren Bray.

Bray is a new member and won the Scotch as well as a ball and has vowed to play all the SE courses, even though he is a Dartmoor club member.

The Ross Orchard trophy went to Ian Todd and Brian Norman.

There is now a three-week gap before the next game at Bordertown on April 19.

Nature pulls rank on the greens

WET conditions descended on the Attamurra golf course for the women's club championships semi-finals, making play uncomfortable.

The A Grade players were first to hit off, with Jennifer Van Rijthoven continuing her good form against Helen Gregory.

Van Rijthoven was just in the lead at the half-way mark and held on to defeat Gregory 3/2.

Last year's champion, Kerry Pedlar played a past champion, Faye Mainwaring with Pedlar the victor finishing 4/3.

This week will see Rijthoven attempt to win her first championship and Pedlar to make it a consecutive win.

Both players hit a long ball and will be a great spectacle to see.

In B Grade, big hitter and in-form player Anne Headlam defeated the experienced finalist Di O'Donnell 4/3 with the results not indicative of the match.

The remaining finalist, Janina Morrison, who has only been playing for about three years had a close match with Andrea Pegler.

Pegler succumbed on the 17th hole giving the match to Morrison 2/1.

The final between Headlam and Morrison will be an interesting match with both players having their strengths.

C Grade saw Donna Jennings play veteran Lois Harvey.

Jennings, who has had better days on the course, could not counteract Harvey's straight game and Harvey finished 7/6.

Women's president Mary Kentish played Heather Chapman and Kentish's long game was too strong.

Harvey will play Kentish in what could be a close game for the C Grade championship.

Five D Grade players will contest a stableford round for the championship.

Those not playing in the finals had the opportunity to play a stableford round and only 10 decided to take on Mother Nature while others played cards.

Maxine McGregor claimed the winners' voucher with 31 points from Yvonne Shirley on a count-back from Betty McKechnie, both with 30 points.

Jan Shanahan won the pro shot on the eighth hole.

On Saturday 23 women, including four from Portland, played a stableford round.

Sharran Waters, another promising player, recorded a win with 37 points, from runner-up Janina Morrison with 34.

The eight rundown winners needed 30 points or better to claim a ball.

Grand finals return for aces

TREVOR JACKSON
trevor.jackson@btwtoday.com.au

FINALS fever was on full display Saturday morning at the Lakes Junior Tennis association held its grand finals.

Grades ranged from A through to F, with plenty of action across the morning.

Reidy Park claimed the A Boys premiership from Mil Lel, while West Gambier won the A Girls final, from Millel/Suttontown/Mt Schank.

The B Boys premiership went to Mil Lel ahead of West Gambier, with Reidy Park claiming the B Girls from Mount Gambier.

West won the C Boys from Mil Lel and defeated Reidy Park to claim the C Girls premiership.

Mount Gambier defeated Glencoe for the D Boys premiership, while West Blue won the D Girls over Mount Gambier/Uniting Church.

The E Boys premiership went to Moorak, the E Girls to Uniting Church and the mixed F Grade to West Blue.

Chairperson of Lakes Junior Tennis Cassie Edwards said the day ran like clockwork after an initial rain delay for around an hour.

All competitors were keen to play their respective grand finals this year, after last year's finals were cut short due to the coronavirus pandemic.

Edwards said overall it had been a busy season for the association, with plenty of participation at the junior level.

"We had a busy season with 74 teams all up, so we had lots of kids playing tennis," she said.

"I think there was a lot of improvement from the kids over the season and our competition is a reasonable standard at the moment.

"We have some good players at the top of the A Grade boys and girls but we also have a good group of young players coming through at the moment.

"The future looks good for the competition."

E GIRLS PREMIERS: Uniting Church - Eliza Peters, Ava Hosking, Olivia Hosking, Zara Cole.

ENTERTAINING CLASH: Fiona Oliver and Mick Millhouse played out an entertaining Division 2 match during Round 6 of the Millicent squash season.

Tight games at the top end

SOME close contests played out in Round 6 of Millicent Squash.

The match of the night in Division 1 saw the hard hitting of Mark Wright up against the deft placement of Brenton Abbott.

Wright took the first two games 15-10 and 15-11 to set the scene for a comfortable victory but Abbott worked his way back into the competition and took the third and fourth games 15-10 and 15-11.

However, Wright had more fuel in the tank and overpowered Abbot in the fifth game 15-11 for the win.

The final point scores for the match had Wright on 66 and Abbott 62.

The Division 2 match of the round was between Fiona Oliver and Mick Millhouse.

The first game was an indication of how good this match was going to be with Millhouse claiming the win after an epic 19-17 result.

Millhouse took the second game 15-10, then Oliver found form in the third to win it 15-8 and also the fourth 15-12.

Millhouse had his opportunities in the fifth game but could not make the most of them and finally succumbed to Oliver 15-10.

The point scores for the match had Oliver on 72 and Millhouse 64.

Excitement hits Mac Park

TREVOR JACKSON

A FULL field and a carnival atmosphere filled McNamara Park on Saturday for round one of the UniSA Australian HPV Super Series.

Around 80 Human Powered Vehicles graced the course, normally known for its high-speed action.

Over an eight-hour period 163 laps were covered by the winners, the Aurora team, just one lap ahead of Wattle Racing's Gunyah, with the Peninsula Human Power Disco Volante third with 155 laps covered.

Some weird and wonderful contraptions were in action over the day, with close racing and a few battle scars left when the race was done and dusted.

Many schools from the region were represented at their home track, which provided plenty of interest for Limestone Coast spectators.

Event marketing and development manager Marcus Lacey said the event was deemed a success for a few reasons, especially considering the previous close downs due to the COVID-19 pandemic.

"Just getting back on the track was a big tick," he said.

"The day ran very well and was well attended, with some 80 teams running around the circuit.

"People enjoyed themselves and were thrilled to be back out racing."

Lacey said the McNamara Park circuit was enjoyable to race on, with plenty of space for the vehicles.

However, contact or roll-overs were still a part of the game, with all competitors keen to hold their place on the track.

"There is plenty of contact and scrapes and you do get some roll overs," Lacey said.

"But the cars are built very safe and are quite strong, able to withstand a roll-over time and time again.

"It is an exciting spectacle but they seem to shape up alright in the end."

The series now moves onto Taillem Bend at The Bend motorsport track, followed by a race at Victoria Park, Taillem Bend again, Busselton in Western Australian and Murray Bridge to round out the series.

SMALL FRY: St Martins Lutheran College's Little Fish might not look as fancy as some of the HPVs at McNamara Park on Saturday but made up for that with persistence.

PREMIERS: Centrals Baseball Club.

CONSISTENT PERFORMER: Central's Alex Ridding was awarded MVP for the Mount Gambier baseball grand final series.

Clean sweep for a dominant Central

CENTRAL Baseball Club needed just two games to claim the Mount Gambier baseball premiership on the weekend.

The best-of-three series pitted Central against South Indians but the former wrapped the title up in the early Saturday afternoon game, as Central claimed the Sid Hosking premiership cup.

Central lined up undefeated for the season and was first on the board in game one on Friday night in front of a vocal.

In the bottom of the second dig Dylan Gull's hit to left-field was put down, Brock Keding took four balls and Koby Chant dropped a timely bunt to load the bases.

Ethan Chuck's sacrifice fly pushed Gull over the plate, Jordan Aston's Texas-leaguer to left-field scored Keding and Chant was driven in by Alex Ridding's two-bagger to right-field giving the Magpies a three-run jump.

The Indians returned fire in the top of the sixth when consecutive hits to Bruce Morale and Dean Hamilton put the first two batters on base.

With one out Alex Lewis produced a hit to load the diamond.

Travis Lockwood batted in Morale and Jesse Balshaw batted in Lockwood, still leaving all the bases occupied.

However, consecutive strikeouts to Cen-

The final run scored for the game came from Central.

Chant got on base from an uncharacteristic error from the South third baseman and he crossed the plate on a wild throw to give Central a four run to two win.

The Indians face a do-or-die scenario in game two, with the third game scheduled if required.

However, Central piled on the pressure early and never relented.

After winning by default last season due to the coronavirus, Central's last premiership was in season 2014/15.

Chant kicked the scoring off after he doubled to centre-field and was batted in on Jordan Aston's sacrifice fly.

South then took the lead in the top of the third when Bruce Morale arrived at first base on a fielder's choice and Damien O'Dine singled to right-field.

Dean Hamilton's safe-hit to right-field pushed Morale across the plate and O'Dine was batted in by Alex Lewis.

However, the lead was short-lived as the Magpies broke the game open in the top of the fourth to all-but put the premiership to bed.

Brock Keding hit safely to centre-field and Chant followed with a safe-hit to left-field.

Ethan Chuck then dropped the perfect bunt to load the bases and prompt coach Bruce Morale to replace pitcher Ryan Placucci on the mound with himself.

It did not stem the flow of hits and the runs came easily from the aggressive batting and base running.

Alex Ridding's hit to centre-field scored Keding, Kyall Mclean's hit to the same spot and the ensuing error allowed Chuck and Ridding to score.

Dylan Chuck doubled which pushed McClean home and Dylan Gull's follow-up double scored Chuck for six runs in the inning to lead 7-2.

From there the game fizzled out to some extent, with tighter pitching and South going to the bullpen once more to put Hamilton back on the mound after his start the night before.

For Central the 19-year-old Ethan Chuck lasted the distance.

South only had five more runners on base for the remainder of the game while Central had only one.

Central shortstop Alex Ridding was awarded the Burner Family Most Valuable Player of the Grand Final Series presented by Toby Burner.

TIMELY PLAY: Central's Ethan Chuck plays a timely bunt to load the bases and allow the Magpies to run rampant.

CELEBRATION MODE: Kyall McClean celebrate as he crosses the plate to help put the Mount Gambier baseball grand final series to bed.

Competitive final weekend

MOUNT Gambier baseball Division 2 minor premiers Tigers claimed the grand final on Saturday from a competitive Central Magpies.

The game was in the balance until the sixth inning when a series of errors by the Magpies caused the game to blow out.

Both pitchers, Tigers' Toby Burner with 10 strikeouts and four walks, plus Central's Mark Kilpatrick with four strikeouts and six walks took a lot of responsibility for the tight defensive work of both teams.

Going into the sixth inning Tigers held the advantage 3-0 but blew it out to eight nil in the end.

In Division 3 Tigers picked up the first of Tigers two premierships for the day when they defeated Millicent in a tightly-contested game.

In a low hitting, low scoring affair Tigers prevailed 6-3.

Phil Clark controlled the mound for Tigers while veteran Sean Horrigan batted 1.000, hitting three from three and batting in half of their runs.

Both teams only made one error each.

South Indians came from behind to win the Junior League title when they scored the winning run in the final at bat.

The low-scoring and a low-hitting game was highlighted by three safe-hits to Dylan Lewis and a homerun to Deegan Habner for South Indians and two safe-hits to Central's Blake Vause.

The Little League minor premiers Central overran a fighting Tigers for an 8-5 win and the premiership title.

Both teams with a large number of players all getting a turn in the batting box turned the game on for the family and friends attending.

The highlight was a homerun from Central centre-fielder Sam Ruwoldt.

The Minor League grand final was a tight contest, as Central won the first of three club premierships for the weekend with a 3-2 final scoreline.

In this league when batters are given a "walk" they then hit of a tee to put the ball in play allowing more players in to the game, more outs and more runs, not just free bases.

While both teams only hit one proper safe-hit each there was plenty of the ball in play.

Demons show strength

DEMONS achieved a three-peat of Mount Gambier softball premierships on Saturday with a resounding 14-1 victory over Warriors Blue.

Warriors won the toss and elected to field first, a decision they may have regretted when Demons came out and hit the scoreboard immediately.

A lead-off single from Mackenzie Millard became two runs after Isabella Morale smashed an in-the-park home run past centre field, followed up by three more runs with two RBI's to Sharna Beck.

Warriors were able to score lead off Nicole Vause thanks to a safe hit from Bec White in the bottom of the first, but it was the only run allowed for the game by pitcher Montanna Millard, who had the batter's measure all day.

A Sac fly from Cody Manning and a double from Hayley Burner scored two more runs in the second innings for Demons and they continued in the third off doubles from Morale and Manning.

They then added four runs in the fourth on five safe hits, including a double from Morale to take her tally to three hits for the day.

In the end it was all over quickly, with Demons reaching the mercy rule after four innings.

Morale was named MVP after impressive efforts with the bat and in the field.

Demons 14 (I. Morale 3 (1HR), M. Millard, M. Millard, C. Manning, S. Beck 2, H. Burner, J. Morale, J. Mason 1) d Warriors Blue 1 (N. Vause, B. White 1).

TRIPLE TREAT: Demons made it three Mount Gambier softball premierships in a row on Saturday.

BEST ON THE DAY: Isabella Morale was awarded MVP for the Mount Gambier softball grand final on Saturday.

Club up in arms

The two combined under the LCFA for the upcoming season, with the hope to streamline the sport and showcase the women's game more.

However, the rules now state unless a female does not have a club to play for, she cannot play in the men's competition.

It leaves some outlying clubs such as Millicent in a difficult situation where women have been relied on to fill the numbers on game day in the men's competition.

Millicent Soccer Club co-president Ian Lines said he will take the decision to a president's meeting next week in the hope to have the rule overturned.

"About four or five weeks ago the (LCFA) board decided to ban women from playing the men's game," he said.

"They wanted to push the women's game a bit more and they also suggested if you let the women play in the men's comp, you have to let the men play in the women's comp.

"Some of the regional clubs like us rely on girls topping up the boys teams, especially our junior grades."

Lines said it was also important for the improvement of the women's game overall.

"If you have a talented female you want them to play in the best competition you can," he said.

"If you want to make the next Jenna McCormick they have to play in the boy's league to get that competitive edge to improve themselves.

"It improves their own skills and they take it back to the girl's competition and improve that."

Lines said he believed most clubs wanted the rule overturned.

Caroline Dower, whose daughter Eliza has played in Millicent's mixed competition since starting the mini roo program, said the ruling will have a significant impact on her wellbeing and sense of self.

"She has fostered really important relationships with her teammates and identifies them as being her friends, through under 12's, under 14's and now under 17's," she said.

"This has consistently been her team that she has trained with and played with for years and for her now to be told purely on gender she is no longer allowed to be part of this team is outrageous.

"It is really important for any child to have an opportunity to belong and she feels she belongs to this club and with this team."

Dower said there was no consultation with affected parents and players, many of whom who have already started pre-selection training.

"The LCFA have had no consultation with the clubs and they have just made a decision," she said.

"My understanding is they are meant to represent the clubs, but that is not what they are doing here.

"I have concerns about the decision-making process and I have significant concerns about the impact for our club, teams and individual players."

However, LCFA president Eric Nieto said women were not banned from playing in the men's competition.

He said with the two leagues now one entity, players could not have dual registrations to allow them to play in both.

"The women haven't been banned," he said.

"We have a women's competition and if there is a position for you to play in the women's competition, you should play in the women's competition.

"If your club doesn't have a women's team, you can play in the men's competition."

ADVOCATES FOR WOMEN: Millicent Soccer Club co-presidents Stuart Nuske and Ian Lines want women to be able to play in both the women's and men's soccer competitions in the Limestone Coast.

All clubs currently have women's teams, which leaves the girls with only the one competition to play in.

Nieto said there was a lot more to the decision, which was designed to ensure the women's game flourished.

"What you find in the past is the girls were playing three games a weekend playing SEWFA and Limestone Coast," he said.

"Then 'little Johnny' is sitting on the bench twiddling his thumbs while there were girls playing three games.

"Let's say, if a club has girls who want to play in the boy's competition and they go up to Under 17 boys, you might not have enough girls to have a women's team.

"You are then forfeiting your women's team because you don't have enough players.

"The clubs wanted a women's comp under their umbrella so we got that.

"What is the point of bringing the women across if you are going to let them play in the men's competition and forfeit the women's."

Nieto said there were other factors in play as well.

He said if the decision was overturned it would open the door for men to play in the women's competition.

"If you go down that path where you want girls to play in the boy's league, there is nothing wrong with a man playing in the senior women's competition," Nieto said.

"If you open it for the women, you have to open it for the men.

"We are not there to favour men or women - we have to give them a fair opportunity.

"We have tried to cover every angle with what is best for men and women equally."

TOP SEASON: After an impressive season in the Stark car from Port MacDonnell, Daniel Petska will look to claim glory tomorrow night at the Borderline Speedway.

All set for big finale

TREVOR JACKSON
trevor.jackson@tbwtoday.com.au

THE Borderline Speedway is back this weekend for night two of the time-honoured Easter Sprintcar Trail.

The event kicks off at Avalon Speedway, heads to Mount Gambier tomorrow night, then on to Warrnambool for the final night of racing.

Originally run at Mount Gambier, Portland and Bendigo, Avalon and Warrnambool eventually came on board.

With Portland and Bendigo no longer in the picture, it leaves the Borderline Speedway as the oldest track in the series.

In the final meeting of the season, this year will boast some of the fastest drivers in the country, despite the threat posed from the COVID-19 pandemic.

Australia number one Jamie Veal will be in action at all three tracks, with his intent clear on taking the top honours.

He will be hard to beat and should provide plenty of action at the Borderline Speedway.

Flying the local flag for the Limestone Coast will be Glen Sutherland, Scott Enderl and Daniel Pestka in the Starks car out of Port MacDonnell.

The trio will compete at all three nights, as will some of their competitors.

Names such as Darren Mollenoyux, David Murcott, Jock Goodyer and Marcus Dumesny are just some of the field contesting all three rounds, while Brad Keller will compete only in Mount Gambier and others in just one or two rounds.

The list is quite extensive, with 35 cars nominated.

Borderline Speedway president Cary Jennings said he was excited to be able to pull together such a strong field of drivers.

POPULAR RACER: Scott Enderl will drive one of three cars from the Limestone Coast region at night two of the Easter Sprintcar Trail at the Borderline Speedway.

“We have a good field nominated,” he said.

“For the locals, Daniel Petska has had a real good year and will be on the money in the Stark car.

“Glen Sutherland is always fast but Jamie Veal will be hard to beat.”

The same event was cancelled last year due to the COVID-19 pandemic, with much of the season around the country in disarray.

However, Jennings said the Borderline Speedway had fared well over the 2020-21 season.

“We have had a successful year, even though COVID has effected us,” he said.

“Spectators were down a few hundred for the Kings Challenge and we haven’t reached pre-COVID numbers at all meetings but we have seen plenty of support.”

The Easter meeting is always popular with fans, with around 2500 attending.

This year with the coronavirus restrictions

EXPERIENCED: Glen Sutherland will call on all his home-track experience on night two of the Easter Sprintcar Trail tomorrow at the Borderline Speedway.

still in place, the numbers are limited to 2000 on the hill, with further allowances for those in the pits.

Tickets have sold well during the week, with any remaining to be available at the gate.

The meeting will be supported by Super Rods and Standard Saloons from the Portland/Hamilton area.

The night will finish with the customary fireworks display.

Action is set to kick off at 5pm.

Women with clear goals

TREVOR JACKSON
trevor.jackson@tbwtoday.com.au

BIG victories were the order of the day when the Veolia Limestone Coast Women's Football League took to the grounds in the region for the penultimate minor round of the season.

Games were played Friday night at Penola and Sunday at Kalangadoo.

Millicent struggled at the hands of South Gambier on Friday at McCorquindale Park, unable to score as the Demons ran rampant.

The writing was on the wall after the opening stanza where the victors put on six major scores to hold a 38-0 advantage at the first break.

The trend continued throughout the four quarters and even with a massive three-quarter-time lead, South refused to back off and banged on eight majors in the final term to seal a huge 26-16 (172) to zero victory.

Neave Delaney and Kendell Saffin kicked four goals each, while Chelsea Frost, Alice Tentye, Melanie Bateman, Simone Macdonald and Jasmine White all kicked three.

In the late game Friday night the scenario was not much better for Kongorong.

Penola simply controlled the game and did not allow the challengers to bother the scorers.

An 83-0 half-time score suggested Kongorong would struggle to find the big sticks and Penola ensured it would not happen, running out 23-16 (154) to zero winners.

Georgina Jacobs topped the list with four goals for Penola, while Stella Glynn, Shandeen Balshaw and Aidene Parr all kicked three.

All teams scored on Sunday, but there were still big margins in the games.

North Gambier faced a tough Mundulla side and could only manage a solitary goal throughout the contest.

However, there was plenty of effort from the young Tigers, despite much of the first half played in Mundulla's forward half.

That resulted in a 50-0 half-time score, with North finding its only score in the third term.

IN THE CLEAR: North Gambier's Chloe Perryman shows her Mundulla Opponent a clean pair of heels during Sunday's women's football clash at Kalangadoo.

The constant forward thrusts ensured Mundulla ran out emphatic 13-14 (92) to 1-0 (6) winners.

Kellsie Turner made the most of her opportunities up forward with six majors for the victors.

In the final game at Kalangadoo the hosts welcomed the Victorian visitors Casterton Sandford and made short work of the contest.

It was a lower-scoring affair, with little in the contest at the first break.

Kalangadoo led by seven points and could only add one more major score in the second term, but held the Cats scoreless in that quarter to extend the lead.

The Magpies broke the game open in the third quarter with another four goals, while the Cats still remained with just one opening-term goal on the board.

By the final break the margin had crept out to 38 points and the hosts were all-but home.

Another two goals in the final stanza sealed the 9-4 (58) to 1-1 (7) victory.

Madalyn Bonanno kicked three goals for the victors.

With just one minor round to play South sits clear at the top of the ladder, from Kybybolite, Penola and Mundulla.

Kalangadoo is in fifth place, equal on points with Mundulla but with a lower percentage.
